Violent Storm Whips Across Parts of Ohio

Falling Tree Kills Yellow Springs Boy; Damage Is Widespread

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A line of violent thunderstorms—whipped by powerful surface winds—ripped across Ohio, mainly in the western half of the state and spread destruction to many cities.

The storms started late Monday afternoon in the northwest section then struck at night in the central and southern sections.

One death was reported due to the storms. A 11-year-old boy was struck and killed by a falling tree limb Monday night when a storm hit the Yellow Springs area. The youth, Michael Jones, was hit while walking through a schoolyard on his way home from a boy scout meeting. There were several minor injuries in the state.

Most of the damage came from winds, which ranged up to 83 miles an hour in Cincinnati. Tree limbs were strewn about many sections, roofs were blown off and power was disrupted.

Two telephone company employees were injured in Fremont when a tree limb crushed the cab of their truck. A man was injured in Lorain when winds smashed a storm door at his home. At Middletown, a man and his two small sons were hurt when a tree collapsed on their car.

The severe weather came after unseasonably warm weather as temperatures climbed above the 90-degree mark. Columbus was the hottest spot, with a reading of 95 degrees in early afternoon.

But the storms sent the temperatures into a sharp decline and cool weather was on tap for today.

Six thousand homes were without lights in the greater Cleveland area for a time, and crews worked to repair power lines which blacked out 1,500 homes in Toledo. The same situation prevailed although on a smaller scale, in many cities in the Buckeye state.

A bowling alley under construction in Port Clinton was leveled by the fierce winds. The corner of a hangar at the airport there was blown off and bricks rained down on several cars. A plane at the airport tipped over on one wing.

At Milford, in Clermont County, officials said a tent housing a revival meeting was blown down. There were 230 persons inside, but no injuries were reported.

The roof of a merry-go-round at an amusement park in the Cincinnati suburb of Reading was blown away and an arcade lost a portion of its roof.

Ohio Discrimination Rapped by Negro

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The Negro will be free in 1963 "even if we have to march in every city in the country" says the Rev. A. D. King, brother of Dr. Martin Luther King, the Negro integration leader.

Dr. A. D. King substituted for his more famed brother in a speech before 3,000 cheering persons, mostly Negroes, in the Civic Auditorium Monday night. He said his brother was forced to stay in Birmingham, Ala., to watch the implementation of an integration settlement.

"We have segregation in Birmingham, but we know where it is," Dr. King said. But in Toledo, he said, segregation "takes the form of discrimination where you can't find it so easy, but you feel it every day of the week."

Weird Twist Almost Brings Congressional Redistricting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Because of Republican illnesses and several GOP defections, the Ohio Senate almost passed a congressional redistricting bill for the state Monday night.

It was a weird twist of timing and circumstance that permitted the Democrats to tack a full-scale redistricting bill onto an innocuous little measure to correct the border of the First Congressional District in Hamilton County through a cemetery.

It was only after an amused Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem turned to Senate Republicans and gave them the classic thumbs-down signal that the GOP killed its own bill 15-14.

In the final tally, the bill's sponsor, Sen. Fred L. Hoffman, R-Hamilton, voted against his own bill. Two Republicans—Sens. Charles Jones, R-Butler, and Rob- in Turner, R-Seneca—voted for it as they had for the amendment. Sen. James Grose, R - Trumbull, who voted for the amendment, voted against the bill. All 12 Democrats present voted for both the amendment and the bill.

Monday night's wild and woolly development could not have happened had it not been that Sen- ate Republicans have th... ailing members—Sens. Gordon Renner of Cincinnati, Tennyson Guyer of Findlay and Charles Whalen Jr. of Dayton.

The latter collapsed when he arrived at the statehouse Monday. Associates said it apparently was a combination of an anti - hay fever shot and the intense heat.

Renner underwent surgery some weeks ago and Guyer suffered a mild heart attack last week. Both are reported doing well.

The redistricting amendment was offered by Sen. John C. Smith, Dayton Democrat, who objects to his home county of Montgomery being tacked to Butler County to form Ohio's largest congressional district. His amendment would have cut Butler County loose and joined it with Preble and Clermont to form a new 24th District.

The only trouble, newsmen discovered later, was that Clermont doesn't touch the other two counties — a legal requirement. And, the plan entirely overlooked Warren County — and you can't do that either.

The whole idea is to set up a district for the 24th congressman to which Ohio became entitled under the 1960 census. The 1961 GOP-controlled legislature failed to set up a district and this year's assembly shows no inclination to do so, either.

The somewhat zany development Monday night stole the legislative show as lawmakers met to start their 24th work week. The Senate virtually completed passage of a house-approved bill to provide penalties for juveniles who attempt to hock woggle tavern-keepers out of liquor or beer by lying about their ages.

The whole burden now falls on the liquor permit holders. The Senate turned down 16-13 a bill to prohibit poachers from using spotlights to find deer and kill them. The bill was defeated on its provision that judges would not be permitted to suspend the first $100 of the minimum fine to proposed law would have provided.

James Brown, a volunteer worker, reported to the group that he had met with Circleville Mayor Richard Penn, the County Commissioner and state civil defense leaders in Columbus.

The next meeting will be to organize existing records and to relocate equipment. No date has been set.

Within the next two weeks the township and other village governments will be asked by the local defense unit to cooperate in future plans, Brown reported.

Once Around Roundtown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Efforts to resolve Senate and House differences over a board of regents bill collapsed today.

Rep. Harry Jump, R - Huron, House majority whip and member of the committee said a new conference committee probably would be named soon.

"The expectation is that regents bill will be passed in this session," Jump told newsmen.

Sen. Oliver Oseasek, D - Summit, another committee member, blamed the impasse on the insistence of Sen. Ross Pepple, R-Alen, to be a member on the nine-member regents board. People is chairman of the Senate Education Committee.

The board would have supervision of higher education in the state.

As passed by the House Feb. 27, the bill made no provision for legislative members on the board. The measure passed the Senate April 9. Changes called for membership of the Senate and House Education Committee chairmen on the board.

The bill went to a conference committee of three representatives and three Senators April 18.

Greek Chief Raps Visit to Britain

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Premier Constantine Caramanlis has threatened to resign if King Paul and Queen Frederika don't cancel their state visit to Britain starting July 9, government sources said today.

The Queen is reported insisting on the trip although she was harassed in London April 20 by pickets demanding the release of 1,000 Greek prisoners taken during the Communist civil war of 1947-49.

The government denies the prisoners involved are political prisoners.

9 Boy Scouts, 3 Others Die As Truck Plunges into Gulley

HOLE-IN-THE-ROCK, Utah (AP)—A truck carrying 46 persons through this historic desert area overturned Monday. Nine Boy Scouts, two of their leaders and a woman newspaper reporter were killed.

The list of hospitalized reached 15, with at least two critical, as details of the tragedy slowly came from the scene of the accident in the remote desert area between Escalante and Hole-in-the-Rock on the Colorado River.

The group was from the Ogden-Salt Lake City-Provo area about 200 miles north. Most were Boy Scouts, but Floyd Loveridge, chief executive of the scouts in Provo, said the trip was under the auspices of the South Cottonwood Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the Provo area.

The adventurous expedition was led by a group of teachers and college professors who had led many trips into Utah's red desert areas.

One of the dead was H. Darrell Taylor, 45, a professor of languages at Brigham Young University in Provo and scout leader.

Another of the leaders, Merlin J. Shaw, 51, of Provo, an assistant professor at Brigham Young and father of six, was killed. Monday was his 26th wedding anniversary.

Dorothy Hansen, 24, a vacationing reporter for Salt Lake City's Desert News, was along for the ride and planned to write a feature article.

Utah highway patrolman Burt Giles said the truck was grinding up a steep grade on a dirt road that had been battered by the fierce desert winds and flash floods when the engine failed.

The brakes wouldn't hold and the 2-ton cattle truck plummeted backwards down the incline. It finally hurtled off the edge of road into a deeply eroded gully and flipped over, trapping most of the passengers huddled in the back and crushing some of them. Some were thrown clear.

Many of the injured were treated at the scene when police and doctors arrived from Panguitch which is about 80 miles northwest. Private cars carried the more seriously hurt and dead to the Panguitch hospital.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration has pulled out all the stops in an effort to translate the threat of racial disturbances into action by Congress on civil rights legislation.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, in a series of conferences Monday with Senate and House members, was reported to have described the country as being on the verge of widespread disorders.

While Kennedy got pledges of strong Northern Democratic backing, he ran into stonewall resistance from Southern senators to his pleas for action to knock down racial barriers in public places and to give him authority to initiate civil rights suits.

Kennedy was said to have told the senators and House members somberly that violence and disorder may assume national proportions unless swifter progress is made toward integration.

Negroes To Get Registration OK

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace said at mid-afternoon today he was prepared to "surrender to the superiority of United States forces" and allow the registration of two Negro students into the University of Alabama.

Earlier, Wallace had barred the university doors and immediately afterward had seen President Kennedy order Alabama's National Guard removed from the governor's control and into federal service.

Kennedy directed Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara to put in active service "any or all of the units of the army national guard and of the air national guard of the state" for an indefinite period.

The President acted because, he said, his commands to Gov. George C. Wallace against "unlawful obstructions of justice" had not been obeyed.

Gov. Wallace barred the doors of the university to the two Negro students but federal authorities took them to the dormitories on the campus.

Wallace stood in the doorway of the registration center but there was no physical confrontation involving the governor and the students. They sat in a car with windows rolled down outside the building to hear Wallace read a proclamation barring them.

"They will register today, they will go to school tomorrow," Nicholas Katzenbach, deputy U.S. attorney general, told Wallace at the doorway.

Shortly thereafter Edwin C. Guthman, information chief for the Justice Department, told newsmen that the Negro students, Miss Vivian Malone and James Hood would be registered this afternoon. Whether federal troops might be on the scene could not be immediately determined.

Guthman said the registration would take place in Foster Auditorium, the building where Wallace had stood a few moments earlier. He said they would pass through the doorway where Wallace had stood.

The campus has more than 1,000 armed state forces sealing the entrances.

However, Wallace had said before the Negroes arrived there would be no violence. He made his gesture—and it was a dramatic one—and may now make no further efforts to block the integration of the school.

President Kennedy commanded him to "cease and desist" from any "illegal obstructions of justice."

The "cease and desist" order called for the prevention of "conspiracies or domestic violence" in the Alabama racial crisis.

It commanded the governor and all others "engaged in or who may engage in unlawful obstructions of justice, assemblies, combinations, conspiracies or domestic violence in that state to cease and desist therefrom."

Wallace grimly said "No comment" after the Kennedy proclamation was read and countered with: "I have a statement which I wish to read." He then read his five-page statement.

Wallace rebuffed a personal appeal from President Kennedy, who urged the governor: "I urgently ask you to consider the consequences."

Ohican Held For Slaying In Germany

BAD KREUZNACH, Germany (AP)—The 18-year-old son of a Newark Ohio, sergeant major is being held by German authorities for investigation in the strangulation of an Army Chaplain's daughter.

No charges have been filed against John Arthur Getreu, son of Sgt. Charles J. Getreu Newark. Army officials said the youth admitted being with the girl shortly before her body was found behind an American youth club last Saturday night.

The girl was Margaret L. Williams, 16, daughter of Lt. Col. Robert Williams of Clarksville, Tenn. Williams is chaplain for the U.S. 8th Infantry Division.

Miss Williams attended a dance at the club but failed to return home. Her body was found on a baseball diamond behind the club. Investigators said she had been sexually assaulted and strangled.

German police told the Army that Getreu, during questioning by German and U.S. officials, admitted meeting Miss Williams on the street shortly after she left the club and going for a walk.

DiSalle's Bill Payment Plan Still Pays Off

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The furor which arose about four years ago when then Gov. Michael V. DiSalle announced the state was cracking down on payment of mental hospital patient bills has all but died away, and the money continues to come in.

"We get very few complaints," Fred Case, director of information for the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, said.

Last year Ohio collected about $8.5 million for care of about 35,000 patients in state hospitals. The cost to operate the 25 hospitals throughout the state, however, totaled $60,137,000.

Before 1962, families of mental patients were billed a flat per capita average which last year was $4.91 a day. However, since last year families are billed by a percentage of their income and based on the number of dependents.

Case said only about one-third of the families who have patients in state hospitals are currently paying something for upkeep. Many, however, do not pay because they do not have sufficient income. Others avoid the monthly bills through various loopholes in the law.

Kentucky Names Itself Churchill's Native State

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Somebody neglected to pick a native state for Sir Winston Churchill when he became America's first and only honorary citizen last April.

The oversight was corrected Monday when the British statesman was commissioned a Kentucky colonel by Gov. Bert Combs.

To make sure Churchill knows what his state produces, he also is getting a special five-gallon barrel of Kentucky bourbon. The commission and the keg will be presented to Churchill on July 4 —Independence Day.

Judge Hands Four Adults Jail Terms

Four adults were handed jail sentences this week by Juvenile Judge Guy Cline on separate charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Heading the dispositions was a case against Marie Robinson, Starkey Drive, who was sentenced to one year in the Pickaway County Jail for "furnishing intoxicating beverages to a minor child."

Ray Colburn, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, was handed a jail sentence of one year and fined $1,000 also for giving intoxicants to a minor.

George Colburn, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to one year in jail for keeping a 13-year-old girl "out all night without the parents' consent or knowledge."

Wilda Odierno, of Circleville, rounded out the cases of adults with a one-year sentence in the county jail for contributing to the neglect of a minor child.

Four juveniles also appeared before Judge Cline on traffic offenses. They were:

Thomas Lee Selva, 15, Route 3, who was arrested for driving without an operator's license. He was ordered by the court not to apply for a license until he is 16½ years of age.

Wayne Burmaster, 17, of 143 W. Union St., had his operator's license suspended for six months for failure to observe a traffic signal.

Phillip Sockman, 16, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, was handed a $25 fine with $20 suspended for driving without an operator's license. He was also ordered not to apply for a license for a period of six months.

Terry Van Hoose, 16, Route 1, had his operator's license suspended for 30 days and received a $25 fine with $20 suspended for driving too fast for road conditions.

A 13-year-old Circleville girl was committed to the custody of the Child Welfare Board for placement in a foster home. The youth had stayed away from home overnight with an adult male.

Driver Hurt In Unusual Accident Here

Horse Rams Small Car On Route 56; Animal Escapes without Injury

A small foreign model car, tangling with a horse near here yesterday, came out second best.

Sometimes, though not often, animals emerge in better shape than vehicles when the two collide on the highway. The horse was the apparent victor Monday.

Francis Donohoe, 60, of 881 Atwater Ave., was seriously injured and extensive damage was inflicted on his small car when it was struck by a horse just east of Circleville on Route 56.

Donohoe was admitted to Berger Hospital. Authorities reported to day he had a brain concussion, multiple lacerations of the scalp and face and possible fractures of the skull and ribs.

The horse was uninjured.

DONOHOE told Sheriff Walton W. Spangler and Deputy William Pontious the horse ran onto the road, striking his car in the side. He lost control. The car rolled over two times, coming to a halt in the ditch.

Capitol Hill Policemen Not Dressy Enough

WASHINGTON (AP) — The police who patrol the halls of Congress and the men who run its elevators are catching a bit of criticism about their appearance.

Some senators feel they're simply not dressy enough, considering the splendor of their place of work.

The Capitol policemen look pretty much like any other men in blue, with neither plumes nor breastplates. And some say you can't tell the elevator operators from the tourists unless you push the "up" buzzer.

Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okl., noted at a hearing that he has received complaints from several senators that the police have the worst dress uniforms of any capital in the world.

But William C. Cheatham, an aide to the Senate sergeant at arms, leaped to the defense of the police. He described them as "a fine looking group of men" who must keep their shoes shined, uniforms pressed, hair cut, and stand inspection.

Monroney suggested that the elevator operators and doormen be garbed so "they don't look like the tourists."

But Cheatham pointed out that distinction has its price: About $22,000 to dress the elevator and doormen so the public and the senators can recognize them.

Recognizing them was not a problem for first-term Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va. The problem was their not recognizing him, he said, adding: "They should do a better job of distinguishing senators from tourists and clerks."

Rhodes' New-Jobs Proposition Is Placed into Operation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' plan to create thousands of new jobs in Ohio went into operation today.

The governor signed an emergency enactment creating a Department of Development and an Ohio Financing Commission authorized to issue revenue bonds to help finance industrial expansion.

Rhodes also sent to the Senate for confirmation the appointment of George Wilson, Akron, as development director at an annual salary of $18,000.

Wilson has headed the old Department of Industrial and Economic Development which ceased to function upon signing of the new measure.

Rhodes announced the appointment of seven members to the financing commission.

They are Vance Brand, director of the Champaign National Bank, Urbana; Wilbur D. Fulton, retired president of the Federal Reserve Bank, Cleveland; Paul E. Humes Jr., vice president of the Peoples Bank, Youngstown; Milton Knight, board chairman of the National Bank of Toledo; Austin E. Knowlton, operator of the A. E. Knowlton Co., Columbus; William C. Safford, president of the Western and Southern Life Insurance Co., Cincinnati; and Joseph Thomas, vice president of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Akron.

In signing the new law, Rhodes gave credit for development of the plan to James Nance, president of the Central National Bank, Cleveland, who was chairman of the Citizens Committee that helped develop the program.

Wilson said the commission will meet promptly, but he added an early Supreme Court test of the new development law will be sought. He said the suit would be filed by counsel for Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Cleveland investment firm.

Expressing confidence in a favorable court decision, Wilson said he expected disbursements to help industry would begin by next Dec. 15. He said a $10 million "seed money" fund was contemplated through early subscriptions.

"This will enable us to sell $40 million worth of bonds," he told a news conference. "We have in this bill the vehicle to do the best job of any of the 50 states. And we can do it without tax money."

Proceeds from the bond issue will be loaned to development corporations, community improvement corporations and qualified private individuals and firms.

Loans will be secured by second mortgages on the businesses aided.

quences to your state and its fine university if you persist in setting an example of defiant conduct and urge you instead to leave these matters in the courts of law where they belong."

Kennedy said there would be little danger of violence at the university if Wallace would stay away from the campus.

In reply, Wallace sent the President this telegram:

"My presence here guarantees peace. This is the opinion of all here familiar with the facts, including the legislature of Alabama and the president of the University of Alabama."

The university Board of Trustees backed Wallace.

The university campus was tightly sealed.

Blue-uniformed state troopers manned wooden barricades; they checked credentials of everyone who approached and kept a sharp eye on groups that formed nearby.

They patrolled the streets in squad cars and thronged the entrance and the lobby of the hotel where Wallace spent the night.

Col. Albert Lingo, state public safety director, said arrests had reached 22 up to the eve of the arrival of the two Negro students. Those arrested were charged with illegal possession of weapons that ranged from pistols and clubs to bayonets, swords, tear gas equipment and needle-pointed hooks used for moving cotton bales.

Lingo said a Negro was arrested Monday when four sticks of dynamite were found in his home. On every hand, automobiles flaunted flags of the Confederacy. One, attached to a radio antenna, was at half-staff.

Wallace arrived in this nervous and apprehensive city Monday afternoon.

Wallace toured the campus, shook hands with state troopers and students and visited the armory where National Guardsmen are on standby duty.

Stationed nearby in northeastern Alabama were several thousand federal troops, including units of the riot-trained 101st Airborne Division.

Village Chief Is Admitted To Hospital

Harold Bowers, South Bloomfield chief of police, was admitted to Doctor's hospital early today, reportedly as the result of injuries sustained in a scuffle with a neighbor.

Authorities at the hospital refused to release information concerning Bowers' condition or the extent of his injuries.

According to a report from Mrs. Robert Pettibone, her husband and Bowers became involved in an argument last night.

The disagreement stemmed from two large cement slabs which Mrs. Pettibone said had been placed in their yard during the spring by Bowers when he built a fence between the two properties.

She said Bowers had been asked several times to remove the slabs. Last night her husband lifted them over the fence onto the Bowers property.

Bowers came into the Pettibone yard to discuss the situation. He was asked to leave by Pettibone and when he refused a fight resulted, according to Mrs. Pettibone.

She said her husband beat Bowers severely. Bowers then drew his pistol in a threatening manner, she said and they fled into their house. The Bloomfield chief was admitted to the Columbus Hospital around midnight.

Bloomfield Mayor Harold Tosca said today he knew little about the incident.

Insurance Firm Faces Lawsuit

A lawsuit has been filed in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court against The Ohio Casualty Insurance Co. by Clem Schwalbaugh, Route 1, Laurelville.

Also named as a defendant was Sara J. Huffines, Route 4, an authorized agent of the insurance firm.

Schwalbaugh filed as the owner of a service station and restaurant near Laurelville that was destroyed in fire on Feb. 7, 1962.

Schwalbaugh claims he had a policy with the company in effect from Nov. 26, 1961, through Nov. 25, 1962 — within which time the fire occurred. The plaintiff says the policy was for $5,000 in protection against loss by fire.

HE admits in his petition that he did not read the policy until after the fire, at which time he discovered the coverage against fire loss was not mentioned.

He alleges that either by "fraud or mistake" the coverage was not included.

Upon filing a claim, the insurance company notified Schwalbaugh that it did not recognize any liability on its part because insurance against fire was not named in the policy.

The plaintiff is seeking judgment in the amount of $2,000 plus interest at the rate of six per cent from Feb. 7, 1962.

The law firm of Phillips and Street represents Schwalbaugh in the matter.

MRS. EDITH A. JONES

Judge Hands Four Adults Jail Terms

Four adults were handed jail sentences this week by Juvenile Judge Guy Cline on separate charges of contributing to the delinquency of minors.

Heading the dispositions was a case against Marie Robinson, Starkey Drive, who was sentenced to one year in the Pickaway County Jail for "furnishing intoxicating beverages to a minor child."

Ray Colburn, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, was handed a jail sentence of one year and fined $1,000 also for giving intoxicants to a minor.

George Colburn, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to one year in jail for keeping a 13-year-old girl "out all night without the parents' consent or knowledge."

Wilda Odierno, of Circleville, rounded out the cases of adults with a one-year sentence in the county jail for contributing to the neglect of a minor child.

Four juveniles also appeared before Judge Cline on traffic offenses. They were:

Thomas Lee Selva, 15, Route 3, who was arrested for driving without an operator's license. He was ordered by the court not to apply for a license until he is 16½ years of age.

Wayne Burmaster, 17, of 143 W. Union St., had his operator's license suspended for six months for failure to observe a traffic signal.

Phillip Sockman, 16, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, was handed a $25 fine with $20 suspended for driving without an operator's license. He was also ordered not to apply for a license for a period of six months.

Terry Van Hoose, 16, Route 1, had his operator's license suspended for 30 days and received a $25 fine with $20 suspended for driving too fast for road conditions.

A 13-year-old Circleville girl was committed to the custody of the Child Welfare Board for placement in a foster home. The youth had stayed away from home overnight with an adult male.

Business Briefs

Donald F. Colegrove of Circleville, district commercial manager for General Telephone Co. of Ohio, announced this week an $11,200 addition to the Laurelville telephone office.

To be put into service during June, the addition consists of 200 lines and 100 terminals of automatic dial equipment, Colegrove said. This will allow for anticipated exchange growth and future line reduction, he added.

The addition brings to more than $218,000 General Telephone's 10-year gross additions in the Laurelville exchange.

Eastern Cuba Plagued By Drowning Floods

Horse Rams Small Car On Route 56; Animal Escapes without Injury

A small foreign model car, tangling with a horse near here yesterday, came out second best.

Sometimes, though not often, animals emerge in better shape than vehicles when the two collide on the highway. The horse was the apparent victor Monday.

Francis Donohoe, 60, of 881 Atwater Ave., was seriously injured and extensive damage was inflicted on his small car when it was struck by a horse just east of Circleville on Route 56.

Donohoe was admitted to Berger Hospital. Authorities reported today he had a brain concussion, multiple lacerations of the scalp and face and possible fractures of the skull and ribs.

The horse was uninjured.

DONOHUE told Sheriff Walton W. Spangler and Deputy William Pontious the horse ran onto the road, striking his car in the side. He lost control. The car rolled over two times, coming to a halt in the ditch.

Capitol Hill Policemen Not Dressy Enough

WASHINGTON (AP) — The police who patrol the halls of Congress and the men who run its elevators are catching a bit of criticism about their appearance.

Some senators feel they're simply not dressy enough, considering the splendor of their place of work.

The Capitol policemen look pretty much like any other men in blue, with neither plumes nor breastplates. And some say you can't tell the elevator operators from the tourists unless you push the "up" buzzer.

Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., noted at a hearing that he has received complaints from several senators that the police have the worst dress uniforms of any capital in the world.

But William C. Cheatham, an aide to the Senate sergeant at arms, leaped to the defense of the police. He described them as "a fine looking group of men" who must keep their shoes shined, uniforms pressed, hair cut, and stand inspection.

Monroney suggested that the elevator operators and doormen be garbed so "they don't look like the tourists."

But Cheatham pointed out that distinction has its price: About $22,000 to dress the elevator and doormen so the public and the senators can recognize them.

Recognizing them was not a problem for first-term Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va. The problem was their not recognizing him, he said, adding: "They should do a better job of distinguishing senators from tourists and clerks."

Rhodes' New-Jobs Proposition Is Placed into Operation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes' plan to create thousands of new jobs in Ohio went into operation today.

The governor signed an emergency enactment creating a Department of Development and an Ohio Financing Commission authorized to issue revenue bonds to help finance industrial expansion.

Rhodes also sent to the Senate for confirmation the appointment of George Wilson, Akron, as development director at an annual salary of $18,000.

Wilson has headed the old Department of Industrial and Economic Development which ceased to function upon signing of the new measure.

Rhodes announced the appointment of seven members to the financing commission.

They are Vance Brand, director of the Champaign National Bank, Urbana; Wilbur D. Fulton, retired president of the Federal Reserve Bank, Cleveland; Paul E. Humes Jr., vice president of the Peoples Bank, Youngstown; Milton Knight, board chairman of the National Bank of Toledo; Austin E. Knowlton, operator of the A. E. Knowlton Co., Columbus; William C. Safford, president of the Western and Southern Life Insurance Co. Cincinnati and Joseph Thomas, vice president of the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Akron.

In signing the new law, Rhodes gave credit for development of the plan to James Nance, president of the Central National Bank, Cleveland, who was chairman of the Citizens Committee that helped develop the program.

Wilson said the commission will meet promptly, but he added an early Supreme Court test of the new development law will be sought. He said the suit would be filed by counsel for Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Cleveland investment firm.

Expressing confidence in a favorable court decision, Wilson

Stock Market Edges Higher

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market firmed and moved irregularly higher early this afternoon in moderate trading.

Key stocks were a jumble of fractional gains and losses, although here and there some larger gains by blue chips bolstered the averages.

Du Pont recovered about 4 points and Allied Chemical rose a point or so.

Wall Street seemed unperturbed by Monday's sharp plunge, the biggest in more than three months.

Motors, chemicals, airlines and rails were higher on balance. The rails steadied following a report that the rail unions had agreed to postpone Wednesday's strike deadline to next week.

A Commerce Department prediction that factory sales will rise to a record during the present quarter was an encouraging factor.

Steels, however, continued slightly lower in the wake of a drop in weekly steel production, the sharpest of 1963.

Village Chief Is Admitted To Hospital

Harold Bowers, South Bloomfield chief of police, was admitted to Doctor's hospital early today, reportedly as the result of injuries sustained in a scuffle with a neighbor.

Authorities at the hospital refused to release information concerning Bowers' condition or the extent of his injuries.

According to a report from Mrs. Robert Pettibone, her husband and Bowers became involved in an argument last night.

The disagreement stemmed from two large cement slabs which Mrs. Pettibone said had been placed in their yard during the spring by Bowers when he built a fence between the two properties.

She said Bowers had been asked several times to remove the slabs. Last night her husband lifted them over the fence onto the Bowers property.

Bowers came into the Pettibone yard to discuss the situation. He was asked to leave by Pettibone and when he refused a fight resulted, according to Mrs. Pettibone.

She said her husband beat Bowers severely. Bowers then drew his pistol in a threatening manner, she said and they fled into their house. The Bloomfield chief was admitted to the Columbus Hospital around midnight.

Bloomfield Mayor Harold Tosca said today he knew little about the incident.

Commission-Manager Plan Faces Dayton Vote Verdict

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Fifty years and one day after adopting the commission-manager form of government—first U.S. city of more than 8,000 to do so—Dayton will decide whether to keep it.

Voters say Aug. 13 whether the present arrangement of five commissioners elected at large on a non-partisan ticket should continue, or be replaced with a nine-commissioner set-up. Each of the nine would represent two of Dayton's 18 wards and be elected on a partisan basis.

Dayton's population was recorded as 262,332 in the 1960 federal census, and it has increased since.

It was considerably less—about 156,600—Aug. 12, 1913, when residents approved the commission-manager plan, but that action still made Dayton the first large U.S. city to do so.

This followed the state's home rule amendment of 1912, giving farming charters and the like.

The change which Dayton residents are being asked to consider now would not do away with the city manager (although his salary would be determined by the nine commissioners), but make him a kind of deputy to a "strong" full-time mayor.

Frank R. Somers, the commissioner who is mayor because he got the most votes, says he's against "strong mayor" government.

Although he has an office in city hall, Somers—an insurance man—is not a full-time mayor.

Herbert W. Starick presently is Dayton's city manager. The first one, Henry M. Waite later built Cincinnati's railroad terminal and Chicago's subway. Another, Fred O. Eichelberger, served about 27 years before retiring in January 1948.

Advocates of the commission-manager form say there have been virtually no city hall scandals in its half-century history. Opponents note that there is no political party as such "on the outs" to keep an eye on the party in office. They say: "How do we know there have been no scandals?"

Voter registration would indicate Democrats might have more to gain than Republicans if commissioner elections are made partisan. More Democrats than Republicans apparently are registered in at least 14 wards.

Opponents of the present form contend that, without endorsement of the powerful all-Dayton committee, few candidates have been successful in recent years. The committee is made up civic leaders, but opponents of commission-manager government contend few persons know the committee's full membership.

Big Cheese

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin Cheesemakers Association has asked the legislature to spend $35,000 to help pay for a 24,000-pound cheddar cheese for display at the World's Fair in New York next year. The cheese—8½ feet in diameter and 7 feet high—would be billed as the world's largest.

It would be made in Denmark—Wisconsin, this is.

67 Ohio Areas Now Collect Income Taxes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Five more Ohio cities began collecting income taxes during the past year, and five villages which had been collecting them moved to city status, the state auditor's office says.

As a result, the 1962 total was higher than ever before—$72,587,282—the auditor's report declares. The record total was taken in by 58 cities and 9 villages.

Collecting for the first time were Steubenville, Marietta, Bucyrus, Miamisburg and Tiffin. Crestline, Louisville, North Canton, Sylvania and Perrysburg switched to city status from village status.

Commission-Manager Plan Faces Dayton Vote Verdict

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Fifty years and one day after adopting the commission-manager form of government—first U.S. city of more than 8,000 to do so—Dayton will decide whether to keep it.

Voters say Aug. 13 whether the present arrangement of five commissioners elected at large on a non-partisan ticket should continue, or be replaced with a nine-commissioner set-up. Each of the nine would represent two of Dayton's 18 wards and be elected on a partisan basis.

Dayton's population was recorded as 262,332 in the 1960 federal census, and it has increased since.

It was considerably less—about 116,600—Aug. 12, 1913, when residents approved the commission-manager plan, but that action still made Dayton the first large U.S. city to do so.

This followed the state's home rule amendment of 1912, giving farming charters and the like.

The change which Dayton residents are being asked to consider now would not do away with the city manager (although his salary would be determined by the nine commissioners), but make him a kind of deputy to a "strong" full-time mayor.

Frank R. Somers, the commissioner who is mayor because he got the most votes, says he's against "strong mayor" government.

Bosun's Call Will Remain

Any old navy man, or any young one for that matter, would faint if the British Royal Navy abolished the traditional bosun's call. Yet that's what the rumors were about these past few days. The Royal Navy was going to do away with the bosun's pipe and rely on public address systems.

The rumors weren't entirely baseless. The RN is curtailing the use of the bosun's pipe, from 30 some calls a day to maybe five or six, but never, never, never will it do away with it entirely.

The call, in case you don't happen to have salt in your locks, is sounded on the bosun's pipe to announce meals, tell the men when they can smoke and issue general orders. It's a haunting call and has been known to give a loon an inferiority complex.

Anyway, according to an RN spokesman, the call is here to stay. "There has been a bosun's call ever since there has been a British navy," he said. "The Call will go on."

Who is there to say that what was good enough for Drake, Nelson and Mountbatten isn't good enough for the likes of them that sail the seven seas today?

Where Are the Shortcomings?

By John Chamberlain

It was a Yale Law School professor, Charles L. Black Jr., who was the first to take public notice that sixteen states had approved at least one of three proposed Constitutional amendments designed to hobble the federal Congress, or the U. S. Supreme Court or both of them together. No doubt the professor deserves some recognition for both his journalistic and his legal acumen. Certainly the proposed changes would seriously cripple the power of the federal government to govern. But in a nation that is supposed to cherish states' rights the matter hardly ends there.

It could hardly be the purpose of any national citizen to defend the suggested Constitutional amendments as a package although they are not all equally bad. One of the amendments, which would set up a "court of the Union" comprising the chief justices of the fifty states, would create a check-and-balance within a check-and-balance, giving the new "Court" the power to overrule Supreme Court decisions affecting states' rights. This would of course make fifty interested state parties the judges in their own cases, which is something that is repugnant to any valid concept of justice. The notion is quite on a par with the unfortunate Progressive Party plank of 1912 that called for "popular recall of judicial decisions."

The second amendment would abolish federal jurisdiction over the apportionment of seats in state legislatures. And a third would make it possible for the states themselves to propose and ratify constitutional amendments without the approval of Congress or the convening of a national ratifying convention.

Since the Constitution guarantees the inhabitants of each state a "Republican form of government," there is warrant for an argument that the federal authority has the right and the power to prevent shenanigans that could perpetuate local minority rule. Even so, it was deemed Constitutional until a very short time ago that a state had the right to set its own election qualifications. As for altering the Constitutional amending process, the states were originally the sovereign creators of the Constitution. Presumably a "constitutive power" has the right to review its own handiwork from time to time, provided it does so legally. This is not necessarily an argument for changing the amending process; it is simply to say that there is nothing fundamentally subversive in thinking about it, or in putting new ideas to the test of a vote.

Let us assume for the moment, however, that all three of the proposed amendments are equally crazy. Does this mean that the legislators of sixteen states have suddenly taken leave of their senses in dallying with the idea of voting for one, two and even three of them? My columnistic colleague, Holmes Alexander, recently made the point that idiocies of the Right Wing lunatic fringe about which Senator Kuchel of California has made such a to-do are the "equal and opposite reactions" to the lunacies of the Far

Left, some of which have actually acquired the dignity of law. The important thing to investigate, says Mr. Alexander, is "what drives the nuts nutty." Similarly, the important thing about the three proposed amendments is to determine just what shortcomings in our federal rule have provoked good men and true in sixteen states to reach for some mad answers.

The truth would seem to be that it is the failure of the federal government itself to live up to the intentions of the Founding Fathers that has driven people in sixteen states to look for questionable forms of redress. Ever since 1933 the federal government has used an extremely loose construction of the general welfare and the interstate commerce clauses of the Constitution as an excuse to do just about anything. Farmers have been prosecuted and even driven out of the country for the crime of feeding grain grown on their own acres to their own chickens. And people are now being forced to pay dues to unions for the "right to work" even when they don't belong to those unions. "Robber Unions" have been substituted for Robber Barons.

Thus the Ninth and Tenth amendments to the Constitution, which reserved all "non-delegated" rights and powers to the states, or to the people, have become virtual dead letters. This is the nutty situation which has been driving legislators in sixteen of our states to distraction. The cures they propose may be worse than the disease—but the disease is nonetheless there.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the first in a series of articles dealing with stock market indexes.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dow Jones industrial stock price index is flirting with a new high after an 18-month lapse from the old and still champion figure. The Associated Press price average already has broken into new high ground. Standard & Poor's industrial index also is in at least striking distance of a new peak.

The averages are followed closely in board rooms and living rooms. Even the sophisticated who know that any index can't tell all of the market story, but only give a reasonably accurate account of the over-all ups and downs over the months and years, want to know how their favorites closed.

But out of the 17 million Americans who now own stocks, many newcomers—and some old timers —are vague as to how an index is figured hour by hour, how it changes with the times, how the stocks on it are chosen, and how good a guide it really is.

Take the widely quoted Dow Jones industrial average. It began in 1897 with 12 stocks, was expanded to 20 in 1916, and to the present 30 in 1928.

Yet American Tobacco and General Electric are the only stocks on the present index that were on the original one.

The first chemical and the first oil were put on the list in 1924 to reflect growing importance of these industries, considered minor before that.

The 30 stocks always are candidates for change, should industry emphasis change as it does rapidly in these postwar years or fortunes of particular companies make some other stock more representative of their industry. There were no changes in the last two years, despite turbulent upswings and crashes in the market, but there were four changes in 1958.

The Dow Jones industrial index closed at 722.41 last Friday. Its historical peak was 734.91 December 13, 1961. But neither figure indicates as some might guess the average price for the 30 stocks. Their actual prices range from $246.75, du Pont, to $29.37, American Tobacco, and their average price is a lot closer to $71 than to 722.41.

Similarly, when the index goes up or down five points, it doesn't mean a change of $5 as the unsophisticated often think, an average of 50 cents a share would be a lot closer.

The reason for this is largely due to stock splits since the various companies were put on the list. This cut the market value of the individual new shares, roughly in proportion to the size of the stock split, and would to its level of the day before.

So the divisor for calculating the latest position of the 30 stocks is adjusted downward. And the divisor also has to be adjusted when stocks are substituted to bring the newcomers into line with the survivors.

Thus the sum of the prices of the 30 stocks on today's Dow Jones industrial index isn't divided by a simple 30, but because of the many complicated changes over the years by 2.914. That's why the index reads 722.41 rather than $71.13.

Critics of the index as a guide to the stock market as a whole complain that the many changes over the years, both in the makeup of the list and in the arithmetic used, have given it false values in the public's eyes.

They also charge, often with good reason, that many of the stocks on the list—most in the blue-chip category—may be currently stagnant while traders are interested mainly in other stocks. Example: Those considered growth stocks in the frenzied bull market of 1961.

Thus the market as a whole, or in its interesting parts, may be moving much faster, in either direction, than the index indicates.

The post office at the 1964-65 New York World's Fair is expected to process an estimated 200,000 pieces of mail daily. It will offer twice a day delivery seven days a week for thousands of exhibitors.

"Mind doing us a favor?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

MARTHA RAYE was dining in Chicago's Pump Room one evening when a waiter hustled by with a serving of shish-kebab (lamb held aloft on a flaming sword—a specialty of the house). "What the heck is that?" inquired Miss Raye. Jimmy Durante, sitting next to her, explained, "A customer who left only a $10 tip."

In a fascinating book called "The Fine Art of Literary Mayhem," Myrick Land describes a variety of bitter feuds and vendettas in which world-famous authors climbed down from their ivory towers and exchanged insults that left everybody concerned gasping for breath.

The great historian, Thomas Carlyle, for instance, dismissed none other than Ralph Waldo Emerson as a "Hoary-headed and toothless baboon." Henry James, rallying to Emerson's defense, deprecated Carlyle as "that same old sausage, fizzing and sputtering in his own grease." Most vitriolic of all was George Bernard Shaw, ready always to take on all comers. He once infuriated Henry Arthur Jones, reigning London playwright of his day, with such a string of insults that Jones counter-attacked Shaw in a public letter beginning, "The Nag Sedition was your mother and Perversity begot you; Mischief was your midwife, and Misrule your nurse!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Most hospitals in America rigidly limit visiting hours for parents and relatives of child patients.

In the light of the newer knowledge of the psychological advantages of unlimited visiting hours, the attitude that "Children are better off without visiting parents," is indefensible. Children are not "better off" without parents during any emotional upheaval particularly a stay in the hospital.

All of the child's life is lovingly surrounded by protection, supervision and devotion. Decisions of where to go, what to eat, how to dress, are all made for the child by his parents. He rightfully looks to his parents for comfort and reassurance when problems arise.

When he is frightened, he needs his parents more than ever. If he is suddenly separated from that security by a stay in the hospital, he is overwhelmed by a feeling of abandonment. From his point of view, his parents have deserted him when he needed them most.

When parents fail to prepare their children calmly but frankly for what to expect at the hospital, the impact of this separation is magnified.

Experts in child development universally agree that such a break in the relationship between the child and his parents is destructive to the image of security that constitutes the framework of a child's happiness.

Perhaps more hospitals will depart from their unyielding attitude about visiting hours for children after evaluating a recent scientific study made in Great Britain. This study analyzed visitation rights in hospitals and highlighted many advantages not only to the children but to the nurses and administration as well, when visiting hours were liberalized. Contrary to the expectation of the nurses and administrators, the presence of parents turned out to be a boon rather than a burden.

The need for nursing care was markedly reduced. Nurses were freed from the chores of "pacifying" their frightened little patients. More time becomes available for many of the other duties that harass the busy and short-handed nursing staffs.

But the most striking benefit of unlimited visiting hours was the freedom from tension and anxiety in the wards when parents and relatives were nearby. With simple

Silver Lining in Cloudburst

By Hal Boyle

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — "When you're young nothing troubles you," said the old lady, cheerfully. "And when you're old nothing helps."

The old lady is my mother, and she is given to extemporaneous remarks like that.

Now in her 76th year, she is an incurable philosopher and always has been. No matter what has happened to her—or to anyone around her—Mama has always been able to come up with a sage comment that points up a lesson to be learned from the experience. She can see a silver lining in a cloudburst.

She has slowed up a little since I saw her a year ago, and has need herself of her pithy optimism. An attack of rheumatism has made her dependent on a cane for support while in slow and painful transit from the kitchen to the living room sofa, which generally serves as the throne from which she delivers her philosophical judgments of mankind.

"I always knew I'd end up on a cane some day," she remarked. "My best friends now are the heating pad and the aspirin bottle. They're the only things that give any real relief. Oh sometimes I think they ought to take all us old people out and shoot us—for all the good we are to anyone, including ourselves."

Then she added with a smile of victory: "But, do you know, I haven't had to pay out $15 to doctors in the last two years. That's pretty good, isn't it?"

Mama, who can find some good in practically any situation, can even see some advantage in her rheumatism. It has made her something of a weather oracle.

Any in the neighborhood who go ahead with a picnic, on a day when her leg cripples up, do so at their peril. It is pretty sure to rain before nightfall.

Mama, who is short and so stout

I can barely get my arms around her to give her a hug, gets a placid satisfaction out of reading the obituaries of skinny people.

"I tried to get the doctor to put me on a diet," she remarked happily. "But he just told me, 'No, you're too old now to change your ways and besides you've learned how to live with your weight. Just go on being yourself.'"

Widowed more than 25 years, Mama has a lot of living to look back upon, the struggling years when she cooked and washed and dusted and scrubbed for Dad and five children. She doesn't dwell much in the past, however, and is quietly proud that all her children are still alive and eating regularly —and the youngest is now 45.

Mama, who educated herself through daily newspapers, still reads them thoroughly and keeps up with national and world affairs.

"There is too much unnecessary tension in life today," she said the other night as we sat cooling off on a bench in the back yard. "People worry themselves sick trying to get things they don't really need."

"When your Dad and I were young we had nothing—so there was nothing for us to worry about. 'But bad as it is, this old world is still pretty good, and I guess that's the way it always will be—if you just have sense enough to realize it.'"

Bosun's Call Will Remain

Any old navy man, or any young one for that matter, would faint if the British Royal Navy abolished the traditional bosun's call. Yet that's what the rumors were about these past few days. The Royal Navy was going to do away with the bosun's pipe and rely on public address systems.

The rumors weren't entirely baseless. The RN is curtailing the use of the bosun's pipe, from 30 some calls a day to maybe five or six, but never, never, never will it do away with it entirely.

The call, in case you don't happen to have salt in your locks, is sounded on the bosun's pipe to announce meals, tell the men when they can smoke and issue general orders. It's a haunting call and has been known to give a loon an inferiority complex.

Anyway, according to an RN spokesman, the call is here to stay. "There has been a bosun's call ever since there has been a British navy," he said. "The Call will go on."

Who is there to say that what was good enough for Drake, Nelson and Mountbatten isn't good enough for the likes of them that sail the seven seas today?

Where Are the Shortcomings?

By John Chamberlain

It was a Yale Law School professor, Charles L. Black Jr., who was the first to take public notice that sixteen states had approved at least one of three proposed Constitutional amendments designed to hobble the federal Congress, or the U. S. Supreme Court or both of them together. No doubt the professor deserves some recognition for both his journalistic and his legal acumen. Certainly the proposed changes would seriously cripple the power of the federal government to govern. But in a nation that is supposed to cherish states' rights the matter hardly ends there.

It could hardly be the purpose of any rational citizen to defend the suggested Constitutional amendments as a package although they are not all equally bad. One of the amendments, which would set up a "court of the Union" comprising the chief justices of the fifty states, would create a check-and-balance within a check-and-balance, giving the new "Court" the power to overrule Supreme Court decisions affecting states' rights. This would of course make fifty interested state parties the judges in their own cases, which is something that is repugnant to any valid concept of justice. The notion is quite on a par with the unfortunate Progressive Party plank of 1912 that called for "popular recall of judicial decisions."

The second amendment would abolish federal jurisdiction over the apportionment of seats in state legislatures. And a third would make it possible for the states themselves to propose and ratify constitutional amendments without the approval of Congress or the convening of a national ratifying convention.

Since the Constitution guarantees the inhabitants of each state a "republican form of government," there is warrant for an argument that the federal authority has the right and the power to prevent shenanigans that could perpetuate local minority rule. Even so, it was deemed Constitutional until a very short time ago that a state had the right to set its own election qualifications. As for altering the Constitutional amending process, the states were originally the sovereign creators of the Constitution. Presumably a "constitutive power" has the right to review its own handiwork from time to time, provided it does so legally. This is not necessarily an argument for changing the amending process; it is simply to say that there is nothing fundamentally subversive in thinking about it, or in putting new ideas to the test of a vote.

Let us assume for the moment, however, that all three of the proposed amendments are equally crazy. Does this mean that the legislatures of sixteen states have suddenly taken leave of their senses in dallying with the idea of voting for one, two and even three of them? My columnist colleague, Holmes Alexander, recently made the point that idiocies of the Right Wing lunatic fringe about which Senator Kuchel of California has made such a to-do are the "equal and opposite reactions" to the lunacies of the Far

Left, some of which have actually acquired the dignity of law. The important thing to investigate, says Mr. Alexander, is "what drives the nuts nutty." Similarly, the important thing about the three proposed amendments is to determine just what shortcomings in our federal law have provoked good men and true in sixteen states to reach for some mad answers.

The truth would seem to be that it is the failure of the federal government itself to live up to the intentions of the Founding Fathers that has driven people in sixteen states to look for questionable forms of redress. Ever since 1933 the federal government has used an extremely loose construction of the general welfare and the interstate commerce clauses of the Constitution as an excuse to do just about anything. Farmers have been prosecuted and even driven out of the country for the crime of feeding grain grown on their own acres to their own chickens. And people are now being forced to pay dues to unions for the "right to work" even when they don't belong to those unions. "Robber Unions" have been substituted for Robber Barons.

Thus the Ninth and Tenth amendments to the Constitution, which reserved all "non-delegated" rights and powers to the states, or to the people, have become virtual dead letters. This is the nutty situation which has been driving legislators in sixteen of our states to distraction. The cures they propose may be worse than the disease—but the disease is nonetheless there.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the first in a series of articles dealing with stock market indexes.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Dow Jones industrial stock price index is flirting with a new high after an 18-month lapse from the old and still champion figure. The Associated Press price average already has broken into new high ground. Standard & Poor's industrial index also is in at least striking distance of a new peak.

The averages are followed closely in board rooms and living rooms. Even the sophisticated who know that any index can't tell all of the market story, but only give a reasonably accurate account of the over-all ups and downs over the months and years, want to know how their favorites closed.

But out of the 17 million Americans who now own stocks, many newcomers—and some old timers —are vague as to how an index is figured hour by hour, how it changes with the times, how the stocks on it are chosen, and how good a guide it really is.

Take the widely quoted Dow Jones industrial average. It began in 1897 with 12 stocks, was expanded to 20 in 1916, and to the present 30 in 1928.

Yet American Tobacco and General Electric are the only stocks on the present index that were on the original one.

The first chemical and the first oil were put on the list in 1924 to reflect growing importance of these industries, considered minor before that.

The 30 stocks always are candidates for change, should industry emphasis change as it does rapidly in these postwar years or fortunes of particular companies make some other stock more representative of their industry. There were no changes in the last two years, despite turbulent upswings and crashes in the market, but there were four changes in 1958.

The Dow Jones industrial index closed at 722.41 last Friday. Its historical peak was 734.91 December 13, 1961. But neither figure indicates as some might guess the average price for the 30 stocks. Their actual prices range from $246.75, du Pont, to $29.37, American Tobacco, and their average price is a lot closer to $71 than to 722.41.

Similarly, when the index goes up or down five points, it doesn't mean a change of $5 as the unsophisticated often think, an average of 50 cents a share would be a lot closer.

The reason for this is largely due to stock splits since the various companies were put on the list. This cut the market value of the individual new shares, roughly in proportion to the size of the stock split, and would to its level of the day before.

So the divisor for calculating the latest position of the 30 stocks is adjusted downward. And the divisor also has to be adjusted when stocks are substituted to bring the newcomers into line with the survivors.

Thus the sum of the prices of the 30 stocks on today's Dow Jones industrial index isn't divided by a simple 30, but because of the many complicated changes over the years by 2.914. That's why the index reads 722.41 rather than $71.13.

Critics of the index as a guide to the stock market as a whole complain that the many changes over the years, both in the makeup of the list and in the arithmetic used, have given it false values in the public's eyes.

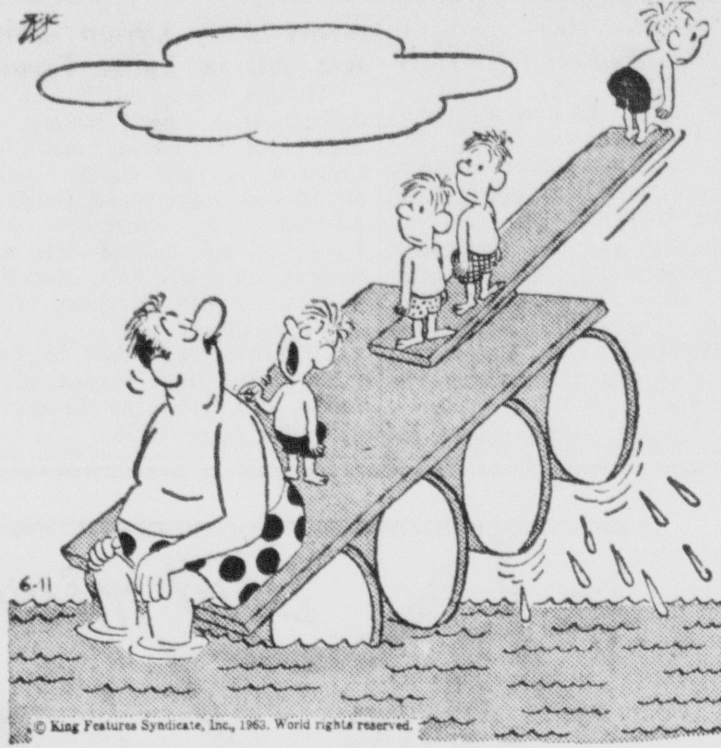

They also charge, often with good reason, that many of the stocks on the list—most in the blue-chip category—may be currently stagnant while traders are interested mainly in other stocks. Example: Those considered growth stocks in the frenzied bull market of 1961.

Thus the market as a whole, or in its interesting parts, may be moving much faster, in either direction, than the index indicates.

The post office at the 1964-65 New York World's Fair is expected to process an estimated 200,000 pieces of mail daily. It will offer twice a day delivery seven days a week for thousands of exhibitors.

"Mind doing us a favor?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

MARTHA RAYE was dining in Chicago's Pump Room one evening when a waiter hustled by with a serving of shish-kebab (lamb held aloft on a flaming sword—a specialty of the house.) "What the heck is that?" inquired Miss Raye. Jimmy Durante, sitting next to her, explained, "A customer who left only a $10 tip."

In a fascinating book called "The Fine Art of Literary Mayhem," Myrick Land describes a variety of bitter feuds and vendettas in which world-famous authors climbed down from their ivory towers and exchanged insults that left everybody concerned gasping for breath.

The great historian, Thomas Carlyle, for instance, dismissed none other than Ralph Waldo Emerson as a "Hoary-headed and toothless baboon." Henry James, rallying to Emerson's defense, deprecated Carlyle as "that same old sausage, flogging and sputtering in his own grease." Most vitriolic of all was George Bernard Shaw, ready always to take on all comers. He once infuriated Henry Arthur Jones, reigning London playwright of his day, with such a string of insults that Jones counter-attacked Shaw in a public letter beginning, "The Nag Sedition was your mother and Perversity begot you; Mischief was your midwife, and Misrule your nurse!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Most hospitals in America rigidly limit visiting hours for parents and relatives of child patients.

In the light of the newer knowledge of the psychological advantages of unlimited visiting hours, the attitude that "Children are better off without visiting parents," is indefensible. Children are not "better off" without parents during any emotional upheaval particularly a stay in the hospital.

All of the child's life is lovingly surrounded by protection, supervision and devotion. Decisions of where to go, what to eat, how to dress, are all made for the child by his parents. He rightfully looks to his parents for comfort and reassurance when problems arise.

When he is frightened, he needs his parents more than ever. If he is suddenly separated from that security by a stay in the hospital, he is overwhelmed by a feeling of abandonment. From his point of view, his parents have deserted him when he needed them most.

When parents fail to prepare their children calmly but frankly for what to expect at the hospital, the impact of this separation is magnified.

Experts in child development universally agree that such a break in the relationship between the child and his parents is destructive to the image of security that constitutes the framework of a child's happiness.

Perhaps more hospitals will depart from their unyielding attitude about visiting hours for children after evaluating a recent scientific study made in Great Britain. This study analyzed visitation rights in hospitals and highlighted many advantages not only to the children but to the nurses and administration as well, when visiting hours were liberalized. Contrary to the expectation of the nurses and administrators, the presence of parents turned out to be a boon rather than a burden.

The need for nursing care was markedly reduced. Nurses were freed from the chores of "pacifying" their frightened little patients. More time becomes available for many of the other duties that harass the busy and short-handed nursing staffs.

But the most striking benefit of unlimited visiting hours was the freedom from tension and anxiety in the wards when parents and relatives were nearby. With simple

Silver Lining in Cloudburst

By Hal Boyle

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—"When you're young nothing troubles you," said the old lady, cheerfully. "And when you're old nothing helps."

The old lady is my mother, and she is given to extemporaneous remarks like that.

Now in her 76th year, she is an incurable philosopher and always has been. No matter what has happened to her—or to anyone around her—Mama has always been able to come up with a sage comment that points up a lesson to be learned from the experience. She can see a silver lining in a cloudburst.

She has slowed up a little since I saw her a year ago, and has needed herself of her pithy optimism. An attack of rheumatism has made her dependent on a cane for support while in slow and painful transit from the kitchen to the living room sofa, which generally serves as the throne from which she delivers her philosophical judgments of mankind.

"I always knew I'd end up on a cane some day," she remarked. "My best friends now are the heating pad and the aspirin bottle. They're the only things that give any real relief. Oh sometimes I think they ought to take all us old people out and shoot us—for all the good we are to anyone, including ourselves."

Then she added with a smile of victory: "But, you know, I haven't had to pay out $15 to doctors in the last two years. That's pretty good, isn't it?"

Mama, who can find some good in practically any situation, can even see some advantage in her rheumatism. It has made her something of a weather oracle.

Any in the neighborhood who go ahead with a picnic, on a day when her leg cripples up, do so at their peril. It is pretty sure to rain before nightfall.

Mama, who is short and so stout

I can barely get my arms around her to give her a hug, gets a placid satisfaction out of reading the obituaries of skinny people. "I tried to get the doctor to put me on a diet," she remarked happily. "But he just told me, 'No, you're too old now to change your ways and besides, you've learned how to live with your weight. Just go on being yourself.'"

Widowed more than 25 years, Mama has a lot of living to look back upon, the struggling years when she cooked and washed and dusted and scrubbed for Dad and five children. She doesn't dwell much in the past, however, and is quietly proud that all her children are still alive and eating regularly —and the youngest is now 45. Mama, who educated herself through daily newspapers, still reads them thoroughly and keeps up with national and world affairs.

"There is too much unnecessary tension in life today," she said the other night as we sat cooling off on a bench in the back yard. "People worry themselves sick trying to get things they don't really need."

"When your Dad and I were young we had nothing—so there was nothing for us to worry about. 'But bad as it is, this old world is still pretty good, and I guess that's the way it always will be—if you just have sense enough to realize it.'"

Annual Initiation Dinner Held by Junior Women's Club

Circleville Junior Women's Club, a member of the Ohio Federated Women's Clubs, held their annual initiation dinner Thursday at the Pickaway Country Club. First president of the local organization, Mrs. Sterling Poling, gave a brief review of the early members, programs and fund raising projects.

Mrs. Ronald Spence was elected president for 1963-1964. Other officers include Mrs. Joe Brooks, vice president; Mrs. Jack Linton, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Chapman, treasurer; Mrs. Paul Reiss, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Ransom, historian.

Mrs. Spence appointed the following standing committees: program, Mrs. Joe Brooks; membership, Mrs. Nancy Colegrove; public relations, Mrs. Jack Linton; budget, Mrs. Robert Chapman; ways and means, Mrs. Charles Stoldt, chairman. Mrs. Harry Turner, Mrs. Maynard Slack, Mrs. Norman Henderson and Mrs. Johnnie Page, parliamentarian; Mrs. Richard Pettit, photographer.

Mrs. Harry Turner, chaplain, Mrs. Bud Whitmore, typist, Miss Carolyn Fudge.

Those appointed to the department committees for the year are: community improvement, Mrs. Norman Kutler and Mrs. Charles Stiles; conservation, Mrs. Darrell Tague; education, Mrs. Leroy Slusser and Mrs. Donald Congrove; fine arts, Mrs. Wayne Smith and Mrs. Daryl Ransom; home life, Mrs. Robert McKelvey and Mrs. Maynard Eaton; international affairs, Mrs. Paul Sarchet and Mrs. Robert Christy; communications, Mrs. Earl Wolfe and Mrs. Bud Weaver; public affairs, Mrs. Stanley Spring and Mrs. Frank Wirth; pumpkin show booth committee, Mrs. Richard Pettit, Mrs. Charles Stiles, Mrs. Frank Wirth, Mrs. Robert Chapman and Mrs. Ronald Spence.

The meeting was adjourned by members receiving small unique gifts in honor of the services each had rendered toward the club in the past year. The group recessed until September.

Chet Long Guest Speaker At Monroe Alumni Banquet

Approximately 220 attended the annual Alumni Banquet held in Monroe School Auditorium Saturday evening. Chet Long, Columbus news announcer, was guest speaker.

The auditorium was decorated with a dropped ceiling of pastel pink, green and white streamers and the stage was decorated with an old wishing well. Tables were decorated with artificial floral arrangements which were in turn given as door prizes.

There were 122 alumni present and the class of 1941 had the largest representation. Lawrence Reid gave the invocation.

Following the fried chicken dinner served by the School and Community Club Robert See, president, called the roll of classes. Richard Wellington, toastmaster, introduced the speaker. The seniors were presented and Arthur Dick welcomed them into the association and James Shell gave the responses. The secretary and treasurer reports were read and approved.

Officers appointed for 1964 are as follows: Kenneth Reid, president; Arthur Dick, vice president; Sue Dennis, secretary; Joan Hix, treasurer.

The meeting was adjourned with benediction and the remainder of the evening was spent dancing and visiting with old friends. Officers for 1963 were: Robert See, president; Dale Smith, vice president; Sue Dick, secretary; Jerry Sines, treasurer.

Kingston Civic Club Holds Banquet, Installs Officers

A banquet preceded installation of officers of the Kingston Civic Club which met at the Lynn House in Chillicothe.

Tables were decorated with white peonies and blue iris in milk glass containers flanked by blue candles in milk glass holders. Favors were blue and white coasters tied with white ribbons which held blue name cards.

Mrs. William Russell and Mrs. Fred Likens installed three members, Mrs. Richard Immell, Mrs. James Green and Mrs. Roger Wood.

Mrs. Russell, president, announced the club received awards for education, conservation and honor club at the convention held in Columbus. Also a religious award which was the only one of its kind received in the district. Janet Vollmar received the $375 scholarship from the Kingston Community.

Mrs. Dwight Davis installed the following 1963-64 officers: Mrs. Fred Likens, president; Mrs. John B. Thomas, vice president; Mrs. James Green, recording secretary; Mrs. Tom Congrove, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ed Hugge, treasurer.

Mrs. Likens announced that her theme for the year would be "Success Through Love, Faith, Hope and Charity." Mrs. Lightner sent a monetary gift.

Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Howard Fish, Mrs. Grover Whitten, Mrs. Kenneth Timmons, Mrs. Ed Hugge and Mrs. Jack Reisinger, members of the club's sextet, sang several selections. They were accompanied by William Russell.

Guests present were Mrs. Louise Schlegel, Circleville, Mrs. Robert Jones, Chillicothe, Mrs. Russell Lightner, Miss Lettie Brundage, Mrs. Floyd Smith, Mrs. William Meadows, Miss Vicki Likens and Mr. Russell.

Mrs. Moore Presides at WSCS Session

Mrs. Jessie Moore, president, conducted the meeting of the Tarlton Methodist WSCS recently in the church basement.

Mrs. Richard Hartley gave the call to worship and read a poem, "Who is My Neighbor." She concluded with a prayer. Mrs. Moore read an article on the purpose of the WSCS, noting that when the name Ladies Aid was terminated it was changed to the Women's Society of Christian Service.

Members are urged to make calls on persons who are ill. A Father and Son Banquet will be held June 21 in the church basement. The committee in charge will be Mrs. Walter Griffith, Mrs. Richard Hartley and Mrs. Lucia Spangler.

Sandy McJunction and Lola Swank presented a clarinet duet and Ethel Reid read a poem. Refreshments were served to 15 members and 13 guests by the hostesses, Mrs. Durlan Bochert, Mrs. Jessie Moore and Mrs. Clyde Hedges.

Dinner Meet Held by WCTU

Members of the Commercial Point WCTU held a pot luck dinner and meeting Friday in the home of Mrs. Opal Holt.

Mrs. Florence Haughn, president presided. Secretary and treasurer reports were given and six members answered roll call.

A box was prepared to be sent to the Soldiers and Sailors home. The layette for the coming year was started. Plans were made to attend WCTU day at Stoutsville and Lancaster.

Mary Harpster presented several short poems from her scrap book.

Edna Rice, Nona Hankins, Mary Harpster were guests from the Salem Union and Emma Coontz from Commercial Point.

The meeting adjourned with the benediction.

On an early radio program the other morning, forget just what station, but anyway the announcer started to give a plug for The Red Cross Blood Bank. He started by saying, "Now for all of you who have blood..." he hesitated a few seconds and added, "which evidently includes all of us..."

It sounded so comical and of course the gang in the studio gave him a hard time to go. But he did come thru with the announcement and we feel that he must have made a real impression on listeners, especially those who have blood!

Well if you happen to be one of those who do not have tired blood but feel real chipper and are planning to go sailing on the week ends we can tell you where to go. Buckeye Lake has the friendliest Lake Patrol we've ever met. And they are most helpful if you happen to capsize like we did. We wanted to go swimming anyway.

And, of course, if you need something new to wear, we can help you with that situation right here at The Deb Shop. We just received a new shipment of topsiders — a must for every sailor. They come in red and white or black and white stripe and in solid colors. The price is wonderful... only $5.98.

Another must for your sailing list — whatever kind of boat you have — is white duck bermudas by Jack Winter. They are the nicest white bermudas we've seen for a while and they are just $4.98. Top these with a colorful Garland knit and you'll have the perfect boating outfit. We hope you come in today and make your selection.

We will be looking for you... at The Deb Shop and on the Lake. —ad.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

Roses to a Mother!

DEAR ABBY: On Mother's Day my brother and his wife came to visit us. Maxine was telling us how much she liked the china set her husband had given her. Then she asked what Phil had given me. He broke into the conversation with, "She's no mother, what do I have to give her a present for?" Abby, I have four children. But they are all adopted, because I can't have children. This made me feel terrible. Have you any advice?

NO MOTHER
DEAR ABBY: In my opinion, any woman who is unable to bear children, but wants so desperately to be a mother that she will adopt them, deserves the title of mother with a capital "M". She is more Mother than the female who accidentally conceives and then resigns herself to her fate. You, madame, exemplify motherhood in its highest form. Quadruple congratulations!

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Wet Pillow" who cried because her husband gave her $20 and told her to go out and buy herself a Mother's Day gift, she doesn't know how lucky she is. Mother's Day happened to fall on my birthday this year. I've been married eleven years and we have three lovely children. My husband didn't even wish me a Happy Mother's Day or a Happy Birthday. Instead he gave me a big lecture on how "commercial" Mother's Day and all the other holidays have become.

"CRIED ME A RIVER"

DEAR ABBY: We recently had a discussion about whether or not to bury pets with a little ceremony, and mark their graves. Someone

Both turnips and rutabagas may be treated just as you would potatoes. Cook the pared cup-up vegetable in a small amount of boiling water and drain; mash with hot milk, butter and white pepper.

said that you had written that it was "childish" and grown people should "put away childish things". How can anyone who has the compassion for people that you appear to have be so insensitive to animals?

DISAPPOINTED
DEAR DISAPPOINTED: I could not have expressed the above sentiments. May I quote one of my favorite poems?
"Oh, shame on the mothers of mortals
Who did not stop to teach
The sorrow that lies in dear dumb eyes
The sorrow that has no speech.
The same force formed the sparrow
That fashioned man and king
And the God of the whole
Gave a spark of soul
To each furred and feathered thing."

DEAR ABBY: How long is a high school senior obligated to a young lady after he has invited her to the senior prom? Or perhaps I should put it this way: How long should a young lady keep a young man waiting for her answer to his invitation? At this writing, our son has been kept dangling for 7 hours.

"PINKEY"
DEAR PINKEY: After dangling for 24 hours, a young man can consider himself "cut down."

Mt. Pleasant WSCS Meets

The Mt. Pleasant Methodist WSCS met last week in the home of Mrs. Frank Collett, an honorary member, and Mrs. John Moss, Route 2. Mrs. Guy Zurnehly was assisting hostess.

Mrs. Roy Rittinger and Mrs. Marvin Rittinger were in charge of devotions and used the theme, "A Meal" interpreting grace with a prayer; appetizer, roll call naming a favorite hymn; salad, presented with scripture; relish, a hymn sung by Donna Kilian accompanied by Mrs. Sam Kilian, beverage was verses of Scripture and dessert was several verses of Scripture. A prayer was given for the benediction.

Mrs. John Brown, secretary, reported. Yearly dues were collected and it was announced that the same refreshment committee will serve next year. Mrs. Paul Counts, treasurer, distributed financial reports for the WSCS and the church. Mrs. Forrest Hopkins thanked the group for their help at the Chillicothe Veterans Hospital picnic.

Mrs. Marvin Rittinger, Mrs. Roy Rittinger and Mrs. Robert Baird were winners of the games. Refreshments were served to 14 members and the following guests,

Miss Mabel Overly, Miss Katherine Streevey, Mrs. Kenneth Streevey, Margaret Harris, Donna Kilian, Mrs. Robert Zurnehly, Matthew Brown and Mrs. Lloyd Shaw.

Hostesses for the July meeting will be Mrs. Dorsey Bungarner and Mrs. John Dearth.

Supreme Court Plans Study Of Reapportionment Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has agreed to consider a series of reapportionment cases, both legislative and congressional, from the states of New York, Virginia, Maryland, Alabama and Georgia.

Arguments on them will be heard in the court's fall term beginning in October.

The cases involve:
—An attack by radio station WMCA of New York City on constitutionality of apportionment of New York State's legislative districts.
—WMCA contended in appealing to the high tribunal that the state had apportioned both houses of its legislature "in international disregard of the distribution of population."

—A contention by nine voters of Manhattan Borough in New York City that their constitutional rights were violated in a redrawing of boundaries of the four congressional districts in the borough.

—Efforts by two voters in Atlanta, Georgia's Fulton County, to compel a reapportionment of Georgia congressional districts.

—A review of a Maryland Court of Appeals decision that the Maryland Senate need not be reapportioned.

—A review of a lower court decision that 1962 reapportionment acts of the Virginia Legislature are unconstitutional.

—A review of a temporary plan for reapportionment of the Alabama Legislature ordered by a three-judge federal court in Montgomery.

The three-judge court rejected reapportionment legislation enacted by the Alabama Legislature and ordered the temporary plan into effect for the November 1962 election.

The three-judge court decision, announced July 21, 1962, was the first instance in which a federal tribunal had reapportioned a legislature following the Supreme Court's ruling of March 26, 1962 on the issue. The high tribunal then said the distribution of seats in state legislatures is subject to constitutional scrutiny of the federal courts.

Rhodes Says Color Line in State Taboo

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "I want to make it unmistakably clear throughout the state service," wrote Gov. James A. Rhodes, "that promotion for merit without regard to race, color or creed is to be normal."

Rhodes so stated in a letter of congratulation to Bennett J. Cooper, 42, whom he promoted Sunday to deputy warden of the state reformatory at Mansfield. Cooper is the first Negro, according to the governor's office, to achieve deputy warden status in the Ohio penal system.

Cooper, a Cleveland native and Western Reserve University alumnus, has been director of the reformatory's psychological service since 1957.

Red Envoy's Campaign Told

Summit Talks Sought During Cuban Crisis

LONDON (AP) — Capt. Eugene M. Ivanov, handsome Soviet diplomat who shared a pretty redhead with Britain's war minister, tried to rally British support for an East-West summit meeting during the 1962 Cuba crisis, government officials report.

Officials said the move was part of a carefully planned Soviet attempt to divide Britain and the United States over Cuba policy. Ivanov, assistant naval attaché to the Soviet Embassy until his hurried recall late last year, has been a central figure in the scandal now threatening to topple Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government.

Profumo resigned as war minister after admitting an illicit relationship with the redhead, 22-year-old Christine Keeler.

Government sources described how the Ivanov's social activities and political suggestions became a subject of correspondence between Foreign Secretary Lord Home and a fellow peer, the Earl of Arran, who works as a newsman.

They gave this account: When the Cuba crisis was at its height last October, Ivanov, through some of his society friends, met Arran and conveyed to him a proposal that the British government take the initiative to call a summit conference in London at once.

The purpose of such talks was to enable Soviet Premier Khrushchev to get himself off the Cuba hook gracefully. Ivanov urged Arran, in the course of two meetings, to convey such a message to the British government as soon as possible.

Arran, shortly afterward on Oct. 31, relayed the whole story of his talks with Ivanov to Lord Home. By that time, however, Khrushchev already had caved in to U.S. demands for a withdrawal of Soviet missiles from Cuba.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's latest move to get Russian agreement on a nuclear test ban, unless he knows something he hasn't revealed, isn't much different from past efforts and probably won't accomplish any more.

Before he talked Monday in the bright sun at American University's commencement exercises, White House aides had given the speech a big buildup. They said it would be a major foreign policy statement.

They gave it an air of mystery by refusing to indicate beforehand what it was about. The talk, as it turned out, might be considered major. But, because of the history behind it, there was no need for the buildup.

Taxmen Probing Governor's Aides

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Income tax returns of key figures in Gov. James A. Rhodes' administration apparently are coming under scrutiny by federal examiners—if reports here are accurate.

The reports, from usually reliable sources, say an Internal Revenue Service agent was assigned to direct a look into returns for recent years. At least two examiners are going through figures and asking questions, the reports indicate.

During the election campaign last year, state Democrat chairman William L. Coleman called for an examination by IRS director Mortimer Kaplan of Rhodes' returns as far back as 25 years

Cabbie Faces Sentence In Death of Policeman

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Milford taxi driver faces a possible 1-20 year prison sentence as the result of an accident in which a policeman was killed while directing traffic. A Hamilton County Common Pleas Court jury convicted Donald Gene Hughes, 22, of second degree manslaughter Monday. Hughes' cab struck and killed county patrolman Emil R. Kleinwachter, 43, last July 16.

Ross Man Faces Burglary Count

Milton Zickafoose, 36, Route 1, Chillicothe, is being held by Ross County authorities on an accusation of breaking and entering there.

Zickafoose claimed last Friday that he was robbed of $30 and cut on the right wrist Thursday by two unidentified men at Ted Lewis Park. His story was checked out by Circleville Patrolman Jack Mills who interrogated the man at Berger Hospital where he was treated for the laceration.

According to Ross officials, the wrist wound allegedly was suffered during the burglary in that county. Charges were to be filed.

Cepeda's Homer Pulls Giants Off Loss Trail

Dodgers Fall, 7-3, As Slugger Breaks Eighth Inning Tie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Orlando Cepeda slugged the San Francisco Giants out of a seven-game losing skid Monday night with a 430-foot homer in the eighth inning that snapped a tie and led to a 7-3 victory over the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

Cepeda hit his game-winning off Dodger relief specialist Ron Perzanowski leading off the eighth. The homer, Cepeda's 12th, to go with 40 runs batted in and a .308 average, broke a 3-3 tie and ended the Dodgers five-game winning streak.

The triumph moved the defending champion Giants, tied for third place with Chicago, to within one game of the front-running Dodgers with another clash to go in their two-game series. St. Louis, raised out at Pittsburgh, is in second place, now only .002 points behind has angles.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs edged Houston 3-2 on Ken Hubbs' run-scoring single in the ninth inning, the New York Mets downed Cincinnati 3-2 and Philadelphia defeated Milwaukee 6-2 in a game held to 5½ innings by rain.

In the American League, Cleveland nipped Baltimore 3-2, Detroit belted Boston 6-1, the Los Angeles thumped Kansas City 13-3 and New York and Washington swapped shutouts. The Yankees won 7-0 the Senators 1-0. First-place Chicago and Minnesota were not scheduled.

Hubbs delivered his decisive hit following a single by Dick Bertell and a sacrifice. The run was the first earned off Colts' reliever Hal Woodeshick in 22 innings of relief work and tagged him with his second loss against five victories. Lindy McDaniel, who came on for Chicago in the eighth, won it for a 4-1 record. Billy Williams hit a homer for the Cubs and Howie Goss connected for Houston.

Tracy Stallard, 1-3, picked up his first victory since Sept. 3, 1951, by checking the Reds on seven hits and cutting off a ninth inning rally after Cincinnati had closed to within one run. Tim Lincecum's seventh inning homer off Joey Jay, a 21-game winner last year, turned out to be the deciding run for the Mets and sent the Cincinnati right-hander down to his ninth defeat. He has won three.

Ray Culp, Philadelphia's 21-year-old bonus baby, won his eighth game by holding the Braves to four hits in the rain shortened game. One of the hits off Culp, 8-3, was a two-run homer by Ed Mathews. Mathews' error in left field helped the Phillies to two runs in the fourth inning and they wrapped it up with three more in the fifth. Bob Hendley, 4-4 was the loser.

Jet Home Runs Hard on Buffalo

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Columbus Jets may be sitting in the cellar of the International League's Southern Division, but it probably would be hard to convince the Buffalo Bisons that it's because of a lack of power at the plate.

Home runs by Bob Burda, Elmo Plaskett and Pancho Herrera helped the Jets defeat Buffalo 5-3 Monday night. But it was Tony Asaro's double that provided the victory margin. Burda's home run was his 14th, putting him in second place in the league behind Buffalo's Joe Christopher with 17.

Atlanta snapped a six-game Syracuse winning streak with a 1-0 shutout in a battle of the Southern and Northern Division leaders.

Rochester edged Arkansas 4-3, Toronto nipped Jacksonville 5-3 in 11 innings and Richmond walked Indianapolis 8-4.

Chisox Manager Is Confident

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Al Lopez took a look through rose colored glasses at his first place Chicago White Sox today and declared the club is getting better all the time and has a good chance to win the pennant.

"The big thing is that the club is young and is going to get better —not just in future years, but this season," said Lopez. "The farther we go the stronger we'll get, and that means we should be hard to beat going down the stretch this season."

Lopez added that the team has better over-all strength than his 1959 White Sox American League championship outfit and that it is one of the youngest ever to be in first place at this stage of the race.

Kochheiser, Savings Teams Win BR Tilts

Jenne Posts 2-Hit Shutout Game for Hardware Nine

In two Babe Ruth minor league games last night, Savings Bank thumped Third National, 14 to 4, while Kochheiser blanked VFW, 14 to 0, behind the two-hit pitching of Dale Jenne.

The Savings Bank's trio of pitchers did a masterful job of handcuffing the opposing batters. Starting pitcher Neal Coleman fanned three and allowed one hit in hurling scoreless ball for two innings. His relief, in the third inning, was Roger Clark.

Clark fanned three, gave up two hits and allowed one run. Roy Sark made his appearance in the 5th inning helping Clark who injured his finger. He was touched for three runs on one hit and two walks.

BILL GILLIAM was the loser giving up 14 runs on 17 hits.

Coleman blasted a circuit clout for the winners in the third inning. Clark furnished the big bat. He went four-for-four, including two triples and a double.

Brock Bell paced the losers, managing two hits in three trips to the plate.

For the Kochheiser men, Dale Jenne twirled a masterful two-hitter, blanking VFW. Jenne fanned five in winning with the help of the Hardwaremen's 14 run 10 hit offense. Their solid defense included a double play.

Jerry Young went four-for-four including a triple with two on. Jenne was two-for-two, including a double.

Dick Thomas socked a single for VFW and Larry Payne came up with the other bingle.

TOP N. L. HITTER—The Phillies' Wes Covington, now in his eighth season in the majors, is leading the N.L. hit parade at the moment with a .350 bat mark. Wes has a career average of .283.

Lewis Cook, Mac's Gain Wins In Mosquito Loop Competition

Lewis Cook Insurance and Mac's Goodyear nines won in Mosquito League action yesterday in a pair of games called when the two-hour playing limit was reached.

The Insuranceemen took an early lead over the Knights of Columbus, but had to come from behind in the third inning to gain a 16-11 win. Mac's defeated Ankrum Lumber 13-9.

Starting out with a three-run first, the winning Cook unit added four in the second, but then saw K of C push nine runs across to take the lead.

However, a five run production by the Insuranceemen in the third provided the winning margin. They added four runs in the final two innings.

GARY MORGAN, Richard Sark and Jim Neal combined to earn the win, whiffing 12 batters. Greg Hoskins started for the losers, fanning six in three innings. He was relieved by Dana Carley who also struck out six.

Sark and Neal paced the Cook nine at the plate, each collecting

3 Circleville Golfers Quality In Jaycee Event

Three Circleville golfers —Bob Fuhrman, Bruce Helwag and Richard Patrick — have qualified for the second round of the Columbus area Ohio Jaycee Junior Golf tournament.

Firing a 72 on the Ohio State Gray course, yesterday Helwag and Fuhrman were just two strokes off the top round of 70 in the 16-18 year old division of the event.

Patrick's 75 was good enough for a tie for tenth place in the event and another round tomorrow.

Also competing in the event from Circleville were John Wardell and George Grigg in the 16-18 division and Charles Smith and Richard Fuhrman in the 15 and under division.

A total of 15 golfers will qualify for the state event at Cincinnati's Sharon Hills course July 29-30. Top qualifiers yesterday were Tom Killeen and Joe Megle with 70s —par at the Gray course.

Jim Schiaffo, a Little League coach, placed a pan of water alongside Ed Kranepool's right foot to discourage him from "stepping into the bucket." Kranepool, 18, is with the New York Mets.

Hal Woodeshick, Houston southpaw, says he picked up his slider while playing catch on the sidelines with Rusty Staub, rookie outfielder—first baseman with the Colts.

two hits and each scoring four runs. Hoskins and Larry McFarland were the big bats for K of C with two bingles and one run each. Scoring two runs apiece for the losers were Earl Burke and Alan Hawks.

Mac's trailed the Ankrum Lumber unit 8-2 going into the third inning, but pulled within two runs in the bottom of the third and then narrowed the Lumbermen's lead to one run in the fourth. They exploded for five in the fifth to provide the winning margin.

The game was called in the top of the sixth inning because of the two-hour time limit.

Ricky Metcalf, the winning pitcher, aided his own cause when he blasted a homerun in the bottom of the fifth with Dave Gillis on base.

Gillis who had tripled, was three for three for the losers and scored three runs.

BLASTING circuit clouts for the Lumbermen were Charles Cotton and Paul Garrison, while Jeff Styers tagged a three sacker.

Terry Leasure started on the mound for Ankrums. He fanned eight and walked five in the three-inning stint. Garrison, his relief, was charged with the loss.

Rickie Speakman went the first three frames for the winners, fanning four and walking four. Metcalf fanned six and walked three in two innings.

Clay-Liston Bout Reported Booked

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Herald said today that champion Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay have agreed to meet for the heavyweight boxing title at Philadelphia Sept. 30.

Columnist Bud Collins quoted Bob Nilon, brother of Liston's advisor from Philadelphia, Jack Nilon as saying the bout has been agreed to and his brother is en route to London with an agreement for Clay to sign.

Nilon said the fight is contingent upon Liston beating Floyd Patterson in their return match at Las Vegas July 22, and upon Clay whipping Henry Cooper in London June 16.

Local Keglers Appear On Television Show

The Sparks Roofing bowling team of Circleville is appearing on the Spare Time bowling show, a Columbus television program.

The team is composed of Betty Jacobs, June Sparks, Frances Woods, Pat Edwards and Betty Seymour.

Betty Jacobs, bowling five frames yesterday, posted a 72 to give the local team the lead in the week long event. One member will bowl each day on the 2:30 p. m. show.

The winning team will be awarded 25,000 trading stamps.

Indians Win Fourth Game In Succession

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have won four in a row and seven of their last eight contests. The latest hero is pitcher Barry Latman, who survived heat, a rain and windstorm—and a bug, which flew down his throat.

Latman whacked a home run in the seventh inning after rain had delayed the game for one hour and 17 minutes Monday night and that blow was the deciding run in the Indians' 3-2 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

The right-hander permitted only three hits for seven innings, fired brilliantly in the clutch in the eighth frame and bowed out with two gone in the ninth inning. Ted Abernathy nailed down the final out with the tying run on third base. Latman struck out 11 batters to even his record at 2-2.

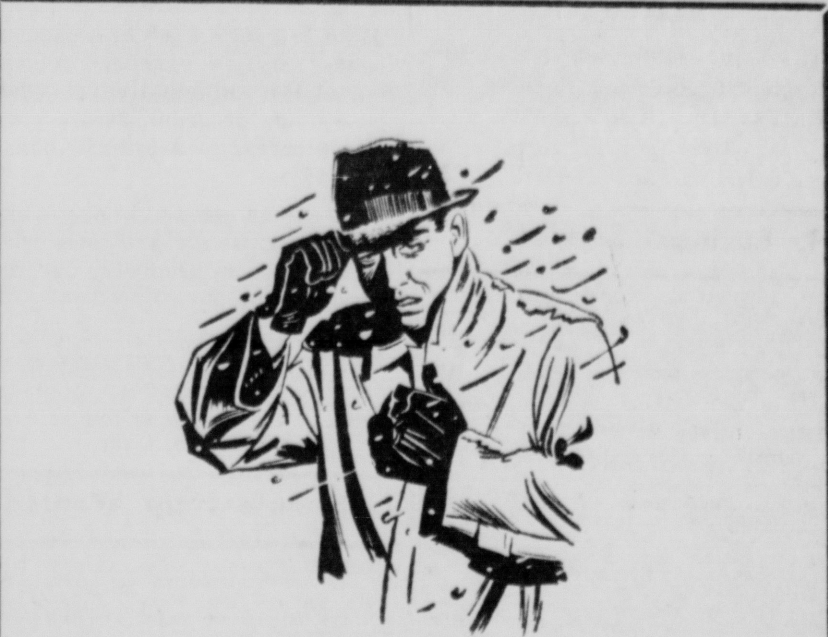

Cleveland hopped on Baltimore starter Mike McCormick in the first inning and took a 1-0 lead.

Dick Howser opened with a bunt single and Vic Davalillo sent him to third with a ringing double to right-center. Howser scored on Al Luplow's grounder to deep short. Baltimore tied the score in the third.

Joe Adcock sent the Indians ahead to stay in the sixth inning with his seventh homer, a 450-foot blow into the left field bleachers.

McCormick set down Cleveland's first two batters in the seventh and ran the count to 3-2 on Latman before the game was delayed by rain.

When play was resumed, Latman slammed the first pitch into the stands for his first homer of the season.

Annual Initiation Dinner Held by Junior Women's Club

Circleville Junior Women's Club, a member of the Ohio Federated Women's Clubs, held their annual initiation dinner Thursday at the Pickaway Country Club. First president of the local organization, Mrs. Sterling Poling, gave a brief review of the early members, programs and fund raising projects.

Mrs. Ronald Spence was elected president for 1963-1964. Other officers include Mrs. Joe Brooks, vice president; Mrs. Jack Linton, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Chapman, treasurer; Mrs. Paul Reiss, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert Ransom, historian.

Mrs. Spence appointed the following standing committees: program, Mrs. Joe Brooks; membership, Mrs. Nancy Colegrove; public relations, Mrs. Jack Linton; budget, Mrs. Robert Chapman; ways and means, Mrs. Charles Stoldt, chairman. Mrs. Harry Turner, Mrs. Maynard Slack, Mrs. Norman Henderson and Mrs. Johnnie Page, parliamentarian; Mrs. Richard Pettit, photographer.

Chet Long Guest Speaker At Monroe Alumni Banquet

Approximately 220 attended the annual Alumni Banquet held in Monroe School Auditorium Saturday evening. Chet Long, Columbus news announcer, was guest speaker.

The auditorium was decorated with a dropped ceiling of pastel pink, green and white streamers and the stage was decorated with an old wishing well. Tables were decorated with artificial floral arrangements which were in turn given as door prizes.

There were 122 alumni present and the class of 1941 had the largest representation. Lawrence Reid gave the invocation.

Following the fried chicken dinner served by the School and Community Club Robert See, president, called the roll of classes. Richard Wellington, toastmaster, introduced the speaker. The seniors were presented and Arthur Dick welcomed them into the association and James Shell gave the responses. The secretary and treasurer reports were read and approved.

Officers appointed for 1964 are as follows: Kenneth Reid, president; Arthur Dick, vice president; Sue Dennis, secretary; Joan Hix, treasurer.

The meeting was adjourned with benediction and the remainder of the evening was spent dancing and visiting with old friends. Officers for 1963 were: Robert See, president; Dale Smith, vice president; Sue Dick, secretary; Jerry Sines, treasurer.

Kingston Civic Club Holds Banquet, Installs Officers

A banquet preceded installation of officers of the Kingston Civic Club which met at the Lynn House in Chillicothe.

Tables were decorated with white peonies and blue iris in milk glass containers flanked by blue candles in milk glass holders. Favors were blue and white coasters tied with white ribbons which held blue name cards.

Mrs. William Russell and Mrs. Fred Likens installed three members, Mrs. Richard Immell, Mrs. James Green and Mrs. Roger Wood.

Mrs. Russell, president, announced the club received awards for education, conservation and honor club at the convention held in Columbus. Also a religious award which was the only one of its kind received in the district. Janet Vollmar received the $375 scholarship from the Kingston Community.

Mrs. Dwight Davis installed the following 1963-64 officers: Mrs. Fred Likens, president; Mrs. John B. Thomas, vice president; Mrs. James Green, recording secretary; Mrs. Tom Congrove, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ed Fluge, treasurer.

Mrs. Likens announced that her theme for the year would be "Success Through Love, Faith, Hope and Charity." Mrs. Lightner sent a monetary gift.

Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Howard Fish, Mrs. Grover Whitten, Mrs. Kenneth Timmons, Mrs. Ed Fluge and Mrs. Jack Reisinger, members of the club's sextet, sang several selections. They were accompanied by William Russell.

Guests present were Mrs. Louise Schlegler, Circleville; Mrs. Robert Jones, Chillicothe; Mrs. Russell Lightner, Miss Lettie Brundige, Mrs. Floyd Smith, Mrs. William Meadows, Miss Vicki Likens and Mr. Russell.

Mrs. Moore Presides at WSCS Session

Mrs. Jessie Moore, president, conducted the meeting of the Tarlton Methodist WSCS recently in the church basement.

Mrs. Richard Hartley gave the call to worship and read a poem, "Who is My Neighbor." She concluded with a prayer. Mrs. Moore read an article on the purpose of the WSCS, noting that when the name Ladies Aid was terminated it was changed to the Women's Society of Christian Service.

Members are urged to make calls on persons who are ill. A Father and Son Banquet will be held June 21 in the church basement. The committee in charge will be Mrs. Walter Griffith, Mrs. Richard Hartley and Mrs. Lucia Spangler.

Sandy McJunction and Lola Swank presented a clarinet duet and Ethel Reid read a poem.

Refreshments were served to 15 members and 13 guests by the hostesses, Mrs. Durlan Bochert, Mrs. Jessie Moore and Mrs. Clyde Hedges.

Dinner Meet Held by WCTU

Members of the Commercial Point WCTU held a pot luck dinner and meeting Friday in the home of Mrs. Opal Hott.

Mrs. Florence Haughn, president presided. Secretary and treasurer reports were given and six members answered roll call.

A box was prepared to be sent to the Soldiers and Sailors home. The layette for the coming year was started. Plans were made to attend WCTU day at Stoutsville and Lancaster.

Mary Harpster presented several short poems from her scrap book.

Edna Rice, Nona Hankins, Mary Harpster were guests from the Salem Union and Emma Coontz from Commercial Point.

The meeting adjourned with the benediction.

Personals

Wayne and Bruce Chelikowsky, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Chelikowsky, 160 Montclair Ave., were honored Sunday evening with a post graduation party given by their parents. Wayne was graduated from Ohio State in the college of commerce and Bruce was graduated from Xavier University in the college of science. Both intend to continue their studies at Ohio State in the fall. Bruce is a pre-med student and Wayne will work on his masters degree. Mr. Rabillard traveled from Tonawanda, N. Y., for his grandsons' graduation. School friends and neighbors congratulated the pair.

A little vinegar added to pared beets that are going to be sliced or diced and cooked in a very small amount of water will help keep color where it belongs — in the beets.

Having a children's party? If you want to serve ice-cream cones count on a quart of ice cream filling a dozen cones.

DEB SHOP CHATTER

On an early radio program the other morning, forget just what station, but anyway the announcer started to give a plug for The Red Cross Blood Bank. He started by saying... "Now for all of you who have blood..." he hesitated a few seconds and added, "which, evidently includes all of us..."

It sounded so comical and of course the gang in the studio gave him a hard way to go. But he did come thru with the announcement and we feel that he must have made a real impression on listeners, especially those who have blood!

Well if you happen to be one of those who do not have tired blood but feel real chipper and are planning to go sailing on the week ends we can tell you where to go. Buckeye Lake has the friendliest Lake Patrol we've ever met. And they are most helpful if you happen to capsize like we did. We wanted to go swimming anyway.

And, of course, if you need something new to wear, we can help you with that situation right here at The Deb Shop. We just received a new shipment of topsiders — a must for every sailor. They come in red and white or black and white stripe and in solid colors. The price is wonderful... only $5.98.

Another must for your sailing list — whatever kind of boat you have — is white duck her-mudas by Jack Winter. They are the nicest white bermes we've seen for a while and they are just $4.98. Top these with a colorful Garland knit and you'll have the perfect boating outfit. We hope you come in today and make your selection.

We will be looking for you... at The Deb Shop and on the Lake. —ad.

Dear Abby: Roses to a Mother!

DEAR ABBY: On Mother's Day my brother and his wife came to visit us. Maxine was telling us how much she liked the china set her husband had given her. Then she asked what Phil had given me. He broke into the conversation with, "She's no mother, what do I have to give her a present for?" Abby, I have four children. But they are all adopted, because I can't have children. This made me feel terrible. Have you any advice?

NO MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: In my opinion, any woman who is unable to bear children, but who so desperately to be a mother that she will adopt them, deserves the title of mother with a capital "M". She is more Mother than the female who accidentally conceives and then resigns herself to her fate. You, madame, exemplify motherhood in its highest form. Quadruple congratulations!

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Wet Pillow" who cried because her husband gave her $20 and told her to go out and buy herself a Mother's Day gift, she doesn't know how lucky she is. Mother's Day happened to fall on my birthday this year. I've been married eleven years and we have three lovely children. My husband didn't even wish me a Happy Mother's Day or a Happy Birthday. Instead he gave me a big lecture on how "commercial" Mother's Day and all the other holidays have become.

"CRIED ME A RIVER"
DEAR ABBY: We recently had a discussion about whether or not to bury pets with a little ceremony, and mark their graves. Someone said that you had written that it was "childish" and grown people should "put away childish things". How can anyone who has the compassion for people that you appear to have be so insensitive to animals?

DISAPPOINTED
DEAR DISAPPOINTED: I could not have expressed the above sentiments. May I quote one of my favorite poems? "Oh, shame on the mothers of mortals Who did not stop to teach The sorrow that lies in dear dumb eyes The sorrow that has no speech. The same force formed the sparrow That fashioned man and king And the God of the whole Gave a spark of soul To each furred and feathered thing."

DEAR PINKEY: After dangle for 24 hours, a young man can consider himself "cut down."

Mt. Pleasant WSCS Meets

The Mt. Pleasant Methodist WSCS met last week in the home of Mrs. Frank Collett, an honorary member, and Mrs. John Moss, Route 2. Mrs. Guy Zurnehly was assisting hostess.

Mrs. Roy Rittinger and Mrs. Marvin Rittinger were in charge of devotions and used the theme, "A Meal" interpreting grace with a prayer; appetizer, roll call naming a favorite hymn; salad, presented with scripture; relish, a hymn sung by Donna Kilian accompanied by Mrs. Sam Kilian, beverage was verses of Scripture and dessert was several verses of Scripture. A prayer was given for the benediction.

Mrs. John Brown, secretary, reported. Yearly dues were collected and it was announced that the same refreshment committees will serve next year. Mrs. Paul Counts, treasurer, distributed financial reports for the WSCS and the church. Mrs. Forrest Hopkins thanked the group for their help at the Chillicothe Veterans Hospital picnic.

Mrs. Marvin Rittinger, Mrs. Roy Rittinger and Mrs. Robert Baird were winners of the games.

Refreshments were served to 14 members and the following guests, Miss Mabel Overly, Miss Katherine Streevey, Mrs. Kenneth Streevey, Margaret Harris, Donna Kilian, Mrs. Robert Zurnehly, Matthew Brown and Mrs. Lloyd Shaw.

Hostesses for the July meeting will be Mrs. Dorsey Buingarner and Mrs. John Dearth.

Cepeda's Homer Pulls Giants Off Loss Trail

Dodgers Fall, 7-3, As Slugger Breaks Eighth Inning Tie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Orlando Cepeda slugged the San Francisco Giants out of a seven-game losing skid Monday night with a 430-foot homer in the eighth inning that snapped a tie and led to a 7-3 victory over the National League leading Los Angeles Dodgers.

Cepeda hit his game-winner off Dodger relief specialist Ron Peranoski leading off the eighth. The homer, Cepeda's 12th, to go with 40 runs batted in and a .308 average, broke a 3-3 tie and ended the Dodgers five-game winning streak.

The triumph moved the defending champion Giants, tied for third place with Chicago, to within one game of the front-running Dodgers with another clash to go in their two-game series. St. Louis, rained out at Pittsburgh, is in second place, now only .002 points behind has angles.

Elsewhere, the Chicago Cubs edged Houston 3-2 on Ken Hubbs' run-scoring single in the ninth inning, the New York Mets downed Cincinnati 3-2 and Philadelphia defeated Milwaukee 6-2 in a game held to 5½ innings by rain.

In the American League, Cleveland nipped Baltimore 3-2, Detroit belted Boston 6-1, the Los Angeles thumped Kansas City 13-3 and New York and Washington swapped shutouts. The Yankees won 7-0 the Senators 1-0. First-place Chicago and Minnesota were not scheduled.

Hubbs delivered his decisive hit following a single by Dick Bertell and a sacrifice. The run was the first earned off Colts' reliever Hal Woodeshick in 22 innings of relief work and tagged him with his second loss against five victories. Lindy McDaniel, who came on for Chicago in the eighth, won for a 4-1 record. Billy Williams hit a homer for the Cubs and Howie Goss connected for Houston.

Tracy Stallard, 1-3, picked up his first victory since Sept. 3, 1951, by checking the Reds on seven hits and cutting off a ninth inning rally after Cincinnati had closed to within one run. Tim Lincecum's seventh-inning homer off Joey Jay, a 21-game winner last year, turned out to be the deciding run for the Mets and sent the Cincinnati right-hander down to his ninth defeat. He has won three.

Ray Culp, Philadelphia's 21-year-old bonus baby, won his eighth game by holding the Braves to four hits in the rain-shortened game. One of the hits off Culp, 8-3, was a two-run homer by Ed Mathews. Mathews' error in left field helped the Phillies to two runs in the fourth inning and they wrapped it up with three more in the fifth. Bob Hendley, 4-4 was the loser.

Jet Home Runs Hard on Buffalo

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Columbus Jets may be sitting in the cellar of the International League's Southern Division, but it probably would be hard to convince the Buffalo Bisons that it's because of a lack of power at the plate.

Home runs by Bob Burda, Elmo Plaskett and Pancho Herrera helped the Jets defeat Buffalo 5-3 Monday night. But it was Tony Asaro's double that provided the victory margin. Burda's home run was his 14th, putting him in second place in the league behind Buffalo's Joe Christopher with 17.

Atlanta snapped a six-game Syracuse winning streak with a 1-0 shutout in a battle of the Southern and Northern Division leaders.

Rochester edged Arkansas 4-3, Toronto nipped Jacksonville 5-3 in 11 innings and Richmond walked Indianapolis 8-4.

Chisox Manager Is Confident

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Al Lopez took a look through rose colored glasses at his first place Chicago White Sox today and declared the club is getting better all the time and has a good chance to win the pennant.

"The big thing is that the club is young and is going to get better —not just in future years, but this season," said Lopez. "The farther we go the stronger we'll get, and that means we should be hard to beat going down the stretch this season."

Lopez added that the team has better over-all strength than his 1959 White Sox American League championship outfit and that it is one of the youngest ever to be in first place at this stage of the race.

Kochheiser, Savings Teams Win BR Tilts

Jenne Posts 2-Hit Shutout Game for Hardware Nine

In two Babe Ruth minor league games last night, Savings Bank thumped Third National, 14 to 4, while Kochheiser blanked VFW, 14 to 0, behind the two-hit pitching of Dale Jenne.

The Savings Bank's trio of pitchers did a masterful job of handcuffing the opposing batters. Starting pitcher Neal Coleman fanned three and allowed one hit in hurling scoreless ball for two innings. His relief, in the third inning, was Roger Clark.

Clark fanned three, gave up two hits and allowed one run. Roy Sark made his appearance in the 5th inning helping Clark who injured his finger. He was touched for three runs on one hit and two walks.

BILL GILLIAM was the loser giving up 14 runs on 17 hits.

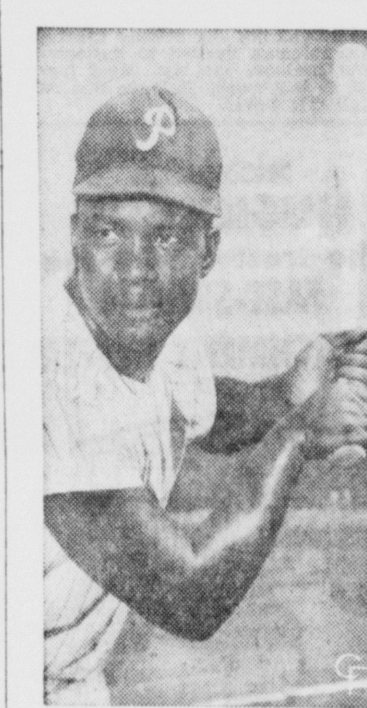

Coleman blasted a circuit clout for the winners in the third inning. Clark furnished the big bat. He went four-for-four, including two triples and a double.

Brock Bell paced the losers, managing two hits in three trips to the plate.

For the Kochheiser men, Dale Jenne twirled a masterful two-hit, blanking VFW. Jenne fanned five in winning with the help of the Hardwaremen's 14 run 10 hit offense. Their solid defense included a double play.

Jerry Young went four-for-four including a triple with two on. Jenne was two-for-two, including a double.

Dick Thomas socked a single for VFW and Larry Payne came up with the other bingle.

TOP N.L. HITTER—The Phillies' Wes Covington, now in his eighth season in the majors, is leading the N.L. hit parade at the moment with a .350 bat mark. Wes has a career average of .283.

Lewis Cook, Mac's Gain Wins In Mosquito Loop Competition

Lewis Cook Insurance and Mac's Goodyear nines won in Mosquito League action yesterday in a pair of games called when the two-hour playing limit was reached.

The Insuranceemen took an early lead over the Knights of Columbus, but had to come from behind in the third inning to gain a 16-11 win. Mac's defeated Ankrum Lumber 13-9.

Starting out with a three-run first, the winning Cook unit added four in the second, but then saw K of C push nine runs across to take the lead.

However, a five run production by the Insuranceemen in the third provided the winning margin. They added four runs in the final two innings.

GARY MOGAN, Richard Sark and Jim Neal combined to earn the win, whiffing 12 batters. Greg Hoskins started for the losers, fanning six in three innings. He was relieved by Dana Carley who also struck out six.

Sark and Neal paced the Cook nine at the plate, each collecting

3 Circleville Golfers Qualify In Jaycee Event

Three Circleville golfers —Bob Fuhrman, Bruce Helwagen and Richard Patrick — have qualified for the second round of the Columbus area Ohio Jaycee Junior Golf tournament.

Firing a 72 on the Ohio State Gray course, yesterday Helwagen and Fuhrman were just two strokes off the top round of 70 in the 16-18 year old division of the event.

Patrick's 75 was good enough for a tie for tenth place in the event and another round tomorrow.

Also competing in the event from Circleville were John Wardell and George Grigg in the 16-18 division and Charles Smith and Richard Fuhrman in the 15 and under division.

A total of 15 golfers will qualify for the state event at Cincinnati's Sharon Hills course July 29-30. Top qualifiers yesterday were Tom Killen and Joe Megle with 70s—par at the Gray course.

Jim Schiaffo, a Little League coach, placed a pan of water alongside Ed Kranepool's right foot to discourage him from "stepping into the bucket." Kranepool, 18, is with the New York Mets.

Hal Woodeshick, Houston southpaw, says he picked up his slider while playing catch on the sidelines with Rusty Staub, rookie outfielder—first baseman with the Colts.

two hits and each scoring four runs. Hoskins and Larry McFarland were the big bats for K of C with two bingles and one run each. Scoring two runs apiece for the losers were Earl Burke and Alan Hawks.

Mac's trailed the Ankrum Lumber unit 8-2 going into the third inning, but pulled within two runs in the bottom of the third and then narrowed the Lumbermen's lead to one run in the fourth. They exploded for five in the fifth to provide the winning margin.

The game was called in the top of the sixth inning because of the two-hour time limit.

Ricky Metcalf, the winning pitcher, aided his own cause when he blasted a homerun in the bottom of the fifth with Dave Gillis on base.

Gillis who had tripled, was three for three for the losers and scored three runs.

BLASTING circuit clouts for the Lumbermen were Charles Cotton and Paul Garrison, while Jeff Styers tagged a three sacker.

Terry Leasure started on the mound for Ankrums. He fanned eight and walked five in the three-inning stint. Garrison, his relief, was charged with the loss.

Rickie Speakman went the first three frames for the winners, fanning four and walking four. Metcalf fanned six and walked three in two innings.

Clay-Liston Bout Reported Booked

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Herald said today that champion Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay have agreed to meet for the heavyweight boxing title at Philadelphia Sept. 30.

Columnist Bud Collins quoted Bob Nilon, brother of Liston's advisor from Philadelphia, Jack Nilon as saying the bout has been agreed to and his brother is en route to London with an agreement for Clay to sign.

Nilon said the fight is contingent upon Liston beating Floyd Patterson in their return match at Las Vegas July 22, and upon Clay whipping Henry Cooper in London June 16.

Local Keglers Appear On Television Show

The Sparks Roofing howling team of Circleville is appearing on the Spare Time bowling show, a Columbus television program.

The team is composed of Betty Jacobs, June Sparks, Frances Woods, Pat Edwards and Betty Seymour.

Betty Jacobs, bowling five frames yesterday, posted a 72 to give the local team the lead in the week long event. One member will bowl each day on the 2:30 p. m. show.

The winning team will be awarded 25,000 trading stamps.

Indians Win Fourth Game In Succession

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Cleveland Indians have won four in a row and seven of their last eight contests. The latest hero is pitcher Barry Latman, who survived heat, a rain and windstorm—and a bug, which flew down his throat.

Latman whacked a home run in the seventh inning after rain had delayed the game for one hour and 17 minutes Monday night and that blow was the deciding run in the Indians' 3-2 triumph over the Baltimore Orioles.

The right-hander permitted only three hits for seven innings, fared brilliantly in the clutch in the eighth frame and bowed out with two gone in the ninth inning. Ted Abernathy nailed down the final out with the tying run on third base. Latman struck out 11 batters to even his record at 2-2.

Cleveland hopped on Baltimore starter Mike McCormick in the first inning and took a 1-0 lead.

Dick Howser opened with a bunt single and Vic Davalillo sent him to third with a ringing double to right-center. Howser scored on Al Luplow's grounder to deep short. Baltimore tied the score in the third.

Joe Adcock sent the Indians ahead to stay in the sixth inning with his seventh homer, a 450-foot blow into the left field bleachers.

McCormick set down Cleveland's first two batters in the seventh and ran the count to 3-2 on Latman before the game was delayed by rain.

When play was resumed, Latman slammed the first pitch into the stands for his first homer of the season.

First National, Jaycees Win LL Minor Games

First National topped Blue Ribbon Dairy, 13 to 5, and the Jaycees' outslugged IOOF, 20 to 13, in Little League Minors play yesterday.

First National's hurlers held the Dairy to five hits. The trio is composed of Mike Sabine, Harry Smith and Randy Martin. Between them they fanned 10.

Providing punch for the Bankers was Jim Ballou with a homer and a triple.

Jeff Linn hit two doubles for the Dairy.

Blue Ribbon has lost both starts this year while First National is 1-1.

The Jaycees' had to come from behind, but finally topped the IOOF in a makeup game. Mike Frericks pitched most of the game for the winners.

Dean Martin slammed a home-run for the victors. Bob Jones polied a triple as did Earl Lutz. Lutz also collected a two bagger.

Big guns for IOOF were Vertie Teets with a triple, Mark Raiston with a double and Davis with a double. It was the first tilt for both teams.

Jewelers Down Du Ponters, 9-6

L. M. Butch fashioned a 9-6 win over DuPont in Babe Ruth major division action yesterday at the Fairgrounds.

Phil Smith held the DuPonters to four hits, all singles. His teammates backed him up with an eight-hit attack, including a triple by Grey.

Doug Pontius started for the DuPont nine and was relieved in the fourth inning by Jim Moorehead who was charged with the loss.

Smith was two-for-four for the winners. Mansil Hurlburt collected two singles in five trips for the DuPont nine.

The Jewelers have a 1-1 record, while the DuPont team has won one and lost two.

The Washington D. C., International thoroughbred race to be run at Laurel in Baltimore on Nov. 11 has been increased to a $150,000 purse.

Boss of Royals Interviews Coach

CINCINNATI (AP)—Both Jack McMahon and Warren Hensel issued cautious statements after the former National Basketball Association coach conferred Monday with the businessman who is trying to buy the Cincinnati Royals basketball team.

"I wanted to get his views and explain mine," Hensel said. "This was the extent of it. We didn't go into anything definite at all."

Hensel said that he plans to interview more candidates before hiring a successor to Charley Wolf.

McMahon said he would like to return to coaching. The 34-year-old former St. John's University star coached the Chicago Zephyrs part of last season.

NEW YORK (AP)—George Maharis quit the cast of "Route 66" more than six months ago, claiming his health wasn't up to the job. Now he is in the strange position of a healthy young man, much in demand, who wants to resume his career, but can't.

Maharis claims he was notified by CBS that he was a free agent last month as far as his commitments to "Route 66" were concerned because the packagers of the show had found in Glenn Corbett a "suitable replacement".

The dark-haired, intense young actor, who has become a popular singing star with hit records, was talking happily last week about making his singing debut next Sunday on the Ed Sullivan Show, a date which has been made and broken three times in the past three years.

Apparently, Sullivan wasn't so certain—he never announced Maharis' forthcoming appearance. Now, it has been postponed.

The packagers of "Route 66" have, according to Maharis' representatives, served him and CBS with legal papers and seek to enjoin him from working for anybody else.

Maharis and Lancer productions, the packager, have been at odds for the better part of a year. First Maharis quit the show, suffering from hepatitis. Then he returned, claimed he was required to work too many hours during a convalescent period, and quit again.

Now, he says, he feels fit. He recently cut a new record, and has been rehearsing "The American Way," a drama for a future television series produced by David Susskind, looking over movie scripts and talking—to CBS among others—about a future television series.

"I don't even think about "Route 66," he declared—last week.

Meanwhile, the injunction is scheduled for court argument June 20, so the earliest Maharis can get on Ed Sullivan's show will be autumn.

Recommended tonight: Garry Moore Show, CBS, 10-11 (EDT)—repeat of one of the seasons best shows in the season.

Finsterwald Sets Pace in Open Qualifier

CINCINNATI (AP) — If Dow Finsterwald keeps the pace he set in the sectional qualifiers he should not have much trouble winning the U.S. National open golf tournament.

Finsterwald, the former PGA champion from Athens, Ohio, toured the 71-par, 6,258-yard Clovenook Country Club course Monday in 69-6 — 133, nine strokes under par.

Clovenook officials said his round of 64 set a club record. The qualifier provided seven entrants—two of them amateurs—with credentials for the tournament June 20-22 at Brookline Country Club near Boston. Thirty-one golfers participated.

An unheralded amateur Stephan Wilkinson of Richmond, Ind., was second with a 67-70—137. Three golfers tied for third with 139 each—amateur Bob Mae of Fort Campbell, Ky., and pros Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, and Gene Thompson of Bluefield, W. Va.

Pro Art Doering of Columbus, Ohio, was sixth with 140 and Don Essig III, a pro from Indianapolis, won a three-way playoff for the seventh berth.

Carl Crowell has been West Point's track coach since 1951.

Boss of Royals Interviews Coach

CINCINNATI (AP)—Both Jack McMahon and Warren Hensel issued cautious statements after the former National Basketball Association coach conferred Monday with the businessman who is trying to buy the Cincinnati Royals basketball team.

"I wanted to get his views and explain mine," Hensel said. "This was the extent of it. We didn't go into anything definite at all."

Hensel said that he plans to interview more candidates before hiring a successor to Charley Wolf.

McMahon said he would like to return to coaching. The 34-year-old former St. John's University star coached the Chicago Zephyrs part of last season.

Views on Television — Radio

NEW YORK (AP)—George Maharis quit the cast of "Route 66" more than six months ago, claiming his health wasn't up to the job. Now he is in the strange position of a healthy young man, much in demand, who wants to resume his career, but can't.

Maharis claims he was notified by CBS that he was a free agent last month as far as his commitments to "Route 66" were concerned because the packagers of the show had found in Glenn Corbett a "suitable replacement."

The dark-haired, intense young actor, who has become a popular singing star with hit records, was talking happily last week about making his singing debut next Sunday on the Ed Sullivan Show, a date which has been made and broken three times in the past three years.

Apparently, Sullivan wasn't so certain—he never announced Maharis' forthcoming appearance. Now, it has been postponed—again. The packagers of "Route 66" have, according to Maharis' representatives, served him and CBS with legal papers and seek to enjoin him from working for anybody else.

Maharis and Lancer productions, the packager, have been at odds for the better part of a year. First Maharis quit the show, suffering from hepatitis. Then he returned, claimed he was required to work too many hours during a convalescent period, and quit again.

Now, he says, he feels fit. He recently cut a new record, and has been rehearsing "The American Way," a drama for a future television series produced by David Susskind, looking over movie scripts and talking to CBS among others about a future television series.

"I don't even think about 'Route 66,'" he declared—last week.

Meanwhile, the injunction is scheduled for court argument June 20, so the earliest Maharis can get on Ed Sullivan's show will be autumn.

Recommended tonight: Garry Moore Show, CBS, 10-11 (EDT)—repeat of one of the seasons best shows in the season.

Routine Agenda Is Handled by Commissioners

Mostly routine business was conducted during yesterday's regular session of the Pickaway County Board of Commissioners.

Coming under the Board's study was an outline on repairs needed at Memorial Hall. A discussion on this matter was discussed with Leonard Coffland.

The county fathers granted Sheriff Walton W. Spangler authority to purchase a new water cooler for the county jail office. The unit will be purchased out of the sheriff's expenses fund.

Sheriff Spangler and the Commissioners also discussed possible purchase or repair of beds and mattresses for the jail.

TREASURER Robert Wood was authorized to attend the Treasurers' State Convention scheduled June 19, 20 and 21 at Russell's Point. Expenses are estimated at $40.

Renewal of a contract with the C. W. Hain Safe Co. of Columbus was approved. Terms call for the firm to clean and inspect a vault lock in the Common Pleas Court office.

No action was taken on a proposal to purchase a postage meter machine for use in the Courthouse. The Commission, along with other department heads, observed a demonstration of the machine.

The Board moved to employ Tommy Hickey as a substitute while Courthouse janitress Margaret Hickey is on vacation.

D. A. Marshall, Route 3, met with the lawmakers to discuss a ditch problem on his property. The Board members and County Engineer Henry McCrady planned to make an immediate inspection of the area.

Additional business included payment of bills and routine reports from various county officials.

Two Youngsters

Treated for Burns

A 14-month old tot who suffered burns to both feet received emergency aid in Berger Hospital yesterday. Five persons were treated and all were released.

Randolph Rush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Rush, 132 Plum St., stepped on hot steam pipes in his grandfather's dry cleaning plant and burned both feet.

Gary Wolford, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Wolford, 349 Barnes Ave., was burned on the face, hand and stomach with hot water.

Vera Holland, 16, Route 4, ran a fish hook into her head.

Tammy Darrow, 22 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Darrow, Route 1, Ashville, fell out the door of her home and lacerated her chin.

Diane Rutter, 6, of 204 Plum St., stepped on a broken pop bottle at Hargus Creek and lacerated her left foot.

Tuesday Weld Insists She's Dedicated to Dramatic Art

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tuesday Weld is not yet 20 and already she's looking for a new image. She transits Tuesday. Once the terror of the town's teen-age set, she is now dedicating herself to the dramatic art. Or at least that's the picture this week.

"If the old Tuesday Weld image was wild, it was because Tuesday Weld was wild," she remarked sagely.

The result? Folks refused to take her seriously as an actress.

"The publicity had a two-fold effect," she said. "People were astonished when they discovered I could turn in a good performance. That was good. On the other hand, producers didn't really think I could act, so they wouldn't consider me for important roles. That was bad."

Oddly enough, she can act. She has demonstrated that in some television shows which proved that her dramatic talent can match her more obvious attributes. She is now getting her
